

2 COUNTY OFFICIALS TO HELP CHEST DRIVE

At a meeting of the board of county commissioners Thursday afternoon, J. D. Bazemore, deputy sheriff, and W. W. Bateman, in charge of court collections for Fulton county, were appointed to take charge of the campaign among county employees for contributions to the Community Chest.

George F. Longino, chairman of the board; Dr. W. L. Gilbert and Al Ragsdale, members of the board, all spoke in warm praise of the work of the Chest agencies, and a general outline of the scope of the work was given by Aubrey Milam, representing the Chest.

Bazemore and Bateman in short talks outlined their plans for contacting every employee of the county with a view to lining them up 100 per cent for obtaining the biggest subscription the county has ever made to the Community Chest activities.

BOMB POSSESSION CASE
DISMISSED IN COURT

Tom Carter, of Bolton, and J. M. Mashburn, of 612 Echo street, both 21, arrested late Wednesday with two alleged bombs in their possession, were dismissed from custody Thursday for lack of prosecution. Carter and Mashburn were arrested by Patrolman W. D. Nash after he saw them hand a package to a negro and after a Decatur street storekeeper had complained they were loitering near his establishment. The package, which was seized, contained two bomb-shaped objects about four inches long and three inches in diameter, tapering at the ends. Investigation disclosed the "bombs" were harmless smokebombs, with the detonators removed, and that the two youths, members of the national guard, had kept them as souvenirs of their recent duty during the textile strike.

NEW DEAL POPULARITY IS DECLINING IN POLL

Latest Results Are Reported in Recheck Vote of Literary Digest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(UP)—A steady decline in the popularity of President Roosevelt's "New Deal" recovery policies is shown in the latest national "recheck" poll taken by the Literary Digest, advance copies of this week's issue indicated tonight.

The recheck covered 65,000 ballots sent out to a list of names in all parts of the country—the identical list to which the ballots were sent in a previous national poll last spring. The second vote now tabulated showed 17 states now vote a majority opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's acts and policies, while the percentage in favor dropped from 69.03 per cent to 50.97 per cent in the intervening months.

The first poll was taken in March and April, and gave the president a good margin of support in all but one state, Delaware, the only one then to vote against the New Deal. The second recheck poll showed enough states definitely opposed to the president to elect a combined total of congressmen equal to nearly half the membership of the house of representatives. Five states showed an increase in sentiment in support of the president's acts over the vote in the earlier poll, namely, Delaware, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina and Utah, the vote in Delaware this time being exactly 50-50, the magazine reported.

The 17 states voting against the New Deal include Arizona, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming.

DEKALB COUNTY MAPS
CHEST FUND CAMPAIGN

DeKalb county and city of Decatur Community Chest workers attended an organization meeting in the auditorium of the Decatur Women's Club Thursday night and formulated plans for the opening of the chest campaign there next Sunday.

Following a dinner, the meeting was held with Dr. S. G. Stokes presiding.

Addresses were made by Robert F. Maddox, president of the Chest; Frank Miller, a director, and the Rev. Walt Holcombe, pastor of the First Methodist church of Decatur.

FORMER ATLANTAN TO OPEN REVIVAL
HERE NOVEMBER 6

James W. Kramer, of Denver, Col., who sold papers on the streets of Atlanta when a youth, is coming home again. He is to conduct a three-week revival series at the Central Baptist church, beginning November 6.

As a boy he sold The Constitution on the streets, was later a cub reporter on The Constitution, then attended college, and the theological seminary. Since that time, he has served some of the largest Baptist churches in the country, including the Central church of Los Angeles. Sixteen years ago he became an evangelist.

This is his first visit to his native city since as a youngster he sat in a Sunday school class taught by the late Henry Grady Sr., and worked for him as a second-secretary. It was under the guidance of Mr. Grady that he felt the call to preach and forsaking the field of journalism turned to the ministry.

As the American frontier advanced westward, mining camps became towns, and towns became cities. A greater nation was built.
To a large nation organized food service is absolutely necessary. And as the country grew, the necessity grew for a reliable system to bring food, quickly and cheaply, from widely scattered farms to widely scattered towns and cities. The widening frontiers of the 80's made such an organization as A&P more essential than ever before. The developments, the changes, and the inventions during the last 75 years have made the A&P of today a necessary part of modern life.

THREE MEN SEIZED IN U. S. LIQUOR RAID

A liquor raid Wednesday afternoon in Stone Mountain, five miles east of Stone Mountain, disclosed a 100-gallon distillery, 5,000 gallons of beer mash, 16 500-gallon box fermenters and other distillery equipment, all of which were destroyed by the raiding alcohol tax collecting agents.

Three men who gave their names as Elbert Pierce, Thomas Tumlin and Anderson Teal were arrested for operating the illicit still. They were held under $300 bond each by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith Thursday.

The arresting officers were J. W. Cole, C. R. McQuinn, D. F. Floyd and B. O. Payne.

Hoffmann Will Head
U. S. Food, Drug Body

Henry Hoffmann Jr., chief of the food and drug department of Minnesota, was elected president of the Association of Dairy, Food and Drug Officials of the United States at the closing session Thursday of the 38th annual convention of the organization, held this week at the Henry Grady hotel.

Phil Taylor, chief food inspector of the Florida department of agriculture, was named vice president, while W. G. Geagley, state chemist of Michigan, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Two new members named to the executive committee are Mrs. Sarah Vance Dugan, chief of the food and drug control of Kentucky, and Walter S. Frisbie, chief of the office of co-operation of federal food and drug administration at Washington.

Selection of the convention city for 1935 was deferred to a later date.

Local alumni and inspectors of the Sigma Nu fraternity were urged to see that local chapters hold cost of membership down low enough that membership is not restricted by financial limitations. The plea was issued by Malcolm C. Sewell, of Indianapolis, general secretary of the fraternity, in a speech made Tuesday at a luncheon given in his honor at Davison-Paxon's by the Atlanta alumni.

Mr. Sewell is in Atlanta visiting chapters of the fraternity at Georgia Tech and Emory University and will also pay a visit to the University of Georgia at Athens during his tour of the southeast. He is an alumnus of Kansas State University and is recognized as a leader in Greek letter society activities. He was introduced at the luncheon by Sam Worley, inspector of the Georgia district.

Sigma Nu was first organized at Virginia Military Institute in 1869 and now has chapters in all leading universities of the country.

Each Spoonful of fresh cranberry sauce has an abundance of that tart-sweetness that blends so well with all other foods.

It's made this way:

"10-Minute" Cranberry Sauce (Stewed Cranberries)
Boil 2 cups of water and 1 1/2 to 2 cups of sugar together 5 minutes, then add 4 cups Eator Cranberries. Boil without stirring 15 minutes is usually sufficient until all the skins pop open. Remove from fire when the popping stops, and allow the sauce to remain in vessel undisturbed until cool.

EPISCOPALIANS URGE U. S. FILM REGULATION

Churchman Raps "Lack of Christian Influence" in Public Schools.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 18. (AP)—Federal regulation of the motion picture industry today was endorsed by the 51st triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church.

A resolution offered by the Rev. George Floyd Rogers, of Asheville, N. C., calling for "supervision (not censorship)" of films before they are made, was adopted by the house of bishops, ratifying earlier action by the house of deputies.

The lack of Christian influence in modern public education was deplored, meanwhile, in a resolution offered by the Rev. Arthur B. Kinsolving, of Baltimore, which the house of deputies adopted.

"Religion has been driven out of the public schools," the Rev. Dr. Kinsolving said, "throwing the entire burden of religious education on the Sunday schools."

In textbooks and in the classrooms, he declared, "there is no longer any mention of the word of 'God.' The resolution calls upon the presbytery and laity alike throughout the church to recognize the responsibility for giving religious training to youth."

Several attacks on the motion picture industry followed from the floor when the Rogers resolution was introduced in the house of bishops.

The Rt. Rev. Logan Herbert Root, bishop of Hankow, China, declared the American film makers are "destroying the good name of the nation abroad" by sending "films too indecent to pass the censors of this country into lands where there is no censorship."

He declared, "there is no longer any mention of the word of 'God.' The resolution calls upon the presbytery and laity alike throughout the church to recognize the responsibility for giving religious training to youth."

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES
 by Sally Saver

He-man salads—the kind of salads that, with the addition of bread or rolls, and a hot drink, make a balanced, completely satisfying luncheon or supper—are always in favor with the housewife. And no wonder: By making a single dish, she prepares a whole meal, attractive, good to eat, and easy to serve. These main-dish salads are especially recommended for those Saturday luncheons when the man-of-the-house is at home or for those Sunday night suppers.

Baked Bean and Tomato Salad.
 Eight tomatoes, peeled; 2 cups baked beans, 1-4 cup Hellman's double-whipped mayonnaise.

Place tomatoes, stem-end down, on crisp lettuce. Cut tomatoes almost to bottom into six even wedges and press apart like petals of flower. Fill center with well-blended baked bean and mayonnaise mixture. Serves eight.

Stuffed Pepper Salad.
 Three-fourths cup Hellman's double-whipped mayonnaise; 2 cups crab meat, flaked; 2 teaspoons onion, grated; 1 teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne, 1-2 cup celery, diced; 6 green peppers.

To mayonnaise add crab meat, onion, salt, cayenne and celery. Cut 2-inch slice from each green pepper, remove seeds and pith and place each on crisp lettuce. Fill pepper slices with fish mixture. Serve on crisp lettuce with additional mayonnaise. Serves six.

Shrimp and Asparagus Salad.
 One-half cup Hellman's double-whipped mayonnaise, 1-4 cups salmon, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cups cucumber, diced, salted and drained, 1-2 cup celery, diced.

Arrange shrimps and asparagus tips on crisp lettuce. Pour sauce, made by combining remaining ingredients over shrimps and asparagus tips just before serving. Serves six.

Short-cut Desserts.
 The clever housewife on a busy day doesn't cut down on dessert in order to shorten her time in the kitchen. Instead she chooses recipes for delicious short-cuts that supply all the demands of the sweet tooth, but at a greatly reduced expense of time and labor on her part. Here are short-cut recipes made with sweetened condensed milk that need no cooking and can be made in five minutes.

Peach Delight.
 One can peaches, 1 can peach juice, 1-4 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-2 cup sweetened condensed milk. Pour over peaches and chill. Serves six.

Place sliced peaches in six individual sherbet glasses. Thoroughly blend fruit juices and sweetened condensed milk. Pour over peaches and chill. Serves six.

Bakeless Pudding.
 One and one-third cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk, juice of 1 lemon, 1-4 cups graham cracker crumbs, 2 eggs.

Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and well-beaten eggs. Stir until thick. Add graham cracker crumbs. Place in sherbet glasses. Serves six.

Ham Smothered With Sweet Potatoes.
 1 slice ham, 3 sweet potatoes, sliced (boiled until almost tender), 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cut hot water.

Brown the ham slightly on both sides and place in a baking dish. Spread the sliced sweet potatoes over the ham and sprinkle with the sugar. Add the hot water to the drippings, pour over the ham and sweet potatoes, cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the ham is tender. Baste occasionally with the gravy, toward the last remove the lid and let the top brown.

Sweet Potato Croquettes.
 Two cups mashed potato, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup chopped nuts, 1-4 teaspoon cayenne, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 1 egg (beaten), bread crumbs.

Mix in order given. Make into croquettes. Roll in bread crumbs, then in beaten egg, and again in bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat.

Sweet Potato Ice Cream.
 One cup strained, mashed, boiled sweet potatoes, add one half cup sugar, beat one egg white stiffly, add 1-4 cup sugar, egg white, and combine this with the sweet potato mixture.

Put in ordinary freezer or freezing tray in refrigerator. When it begins to freeze add one cup well-beaten cream. This may be flavored as desired, and varied by using some brown sugar.

Two Greek Storms.
 ATHENS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Four persons, including the mayor, were killed and 20 injured today when a hurricane struck the village of Astakos on the Aegean coast, wrecking nearly all the houses in the town.

Another hurricane killed two people when it hit Agrinion yesterday.

MENCKEN AND ERSKINE FIGHT RADIO REFORMS

Religious Leaders Also Protest Proposal for More Air Education.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Two well-known writers—Henry L. Mencken and John Erskine—today employed the caustic section of their vocabularies in criticizing proposals for giving educators and ministers more time on their air.

"They couldn't fill their whole time without driving all their listeners away," asserted Mencken in a letter read to the communications commission by the National Broadcasting Company.

"If 25 per cent of the broadcasting facilities were allotted to this purpose," Erskine told the commission in person, "it would mean that 25 per cent of the country's radio time would employ complete silence."

M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company, also opposed increasing broadcasting facilities of non-profit organizations. He said the present commercial stations are doing an entirely adequate job. More than an abundance of educational material already is sent over the air, he said. There must be, he contended, freedom of the radio as well as the press.

"The pedagogues," Mencken added, "now have all the time they can fill profitably and more. Their programs, in the main, are puerile and dull. There is no evidence that they would do any better if they had all day."

"If theologians had control of the matter the more raucous and coarser among them would soon be making bitter war upon the rest and the air would be given over to a wholesale disturbance of the peace."

Erskine, professor of English at Columbia University, said broadcasting is an art and "you have to remember first of all that art must give pleasure."

"No education ought to be an art," he added. "Education, under our present system, is based on force, compulsion."

"There is no pressure on the teacher to make his lecture broadly human. He has the students by the back of the neck. They can't walk out on him, like you can twist the dial on a radio and get something else."

In addition, three religious leaders representing Protestants, Catholics and Jews, testified that broadcasting companies had given them wholehearted co-operation for their programs and they opposed any change in the present system.

They were Dr. John W. Langdale, of New York, book editor of the Methodist Episcopal church; Henry L. Caravatti, of Washington, representative of the National Council of Catholic Men, and Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of New York.

CALIFORNIA STORM TAKES SEVEN LIVES

Ten-Foot Wave of Water Swirls Down on Canyon Towns Again.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A let-up was forecast tonight in the torrential rains that have beat down on Los Angeles and its suburbs for 48 hours, claiming one life, causing at least $150,000 in damage, and claiming seven lives, six of them indirectly caused by traffic accidents.

One man was missing. He was Leo D. Dean, 25, who was in the flood's path in the foothills, and fears were expressed he may have been drowned.

One body was recovered, that of Donald Butterworth, 11, who was swept down a big storm drain.

Tracing virtually the same course as last January's flood—which claimed more than two-score lives in this area—a great wall of water swept out of the fire-denuded foothills and through the towns of Montrose and La Crescenta and the city of Glendale, about 15 miles north of Los Angeles.

Scores of persons scurried to higher ground as the 10-foot wall of water, sweeping down out of Pickens, Briggs, and Eagle canyons, spread over lowlands and raged down the main streets of Montrose and La Crescenta.

Long Beach, to the south of Los Angeles, was hit heavily by rainfall. More than three inches of rain had fallen there since the storm started about 9 p. m. Tuesday night, shattering a 15-year-old precipitation record.

Hundreds were made homeless in the beach city, which was visited by earthquakes once this morning and once yesterday. More than 150 homes were damaged by the rain. The earthquakes awakened many residents but caused no serious damage.

Hundreds of automobiles, ignition systems drenched by the torrential rainfall, were stalled throughout the Los Angeles area. Many rested floor deep in flooded gutters.

Passenger car authorities reported the heaviest rainfall of record in Fern canyon, near there. A 20-foot wall of water rushed down the canyon, demolishing several cabins, but no loss of life was reported.

The dead in the Los Angeles area: Ernest Feyer, 56, Los Angeles; L. H. Kelley, 25, United States marine, and an unidentified man, each killed by automobiles during the rainstorm.

Stanley Grossky, 22, San Diego, a CCC worker, killed when his auto plunged over an embankment near San Bernardino.

Raymond Munde, 26, and Candelario Avinar, 26, both of Covina, killed when their truck struck a tree near Chino, during the storm.

NEW TYPHOON ROARING
EAST OF PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 18.—(Friday.) (AP)—While the unofficial death toll of last Thursday's disastrous typhoon stood at 72 today, the weather bureau reported a new storm was raging at sea east of the Philippine Islands.

Intensity of the latest typhoon was undetermined, the weather bureau said, and its direction was uncertain. Storm warnings were not displayed in Manila.

ATLANTANS HONOR
DR. ISIDORE COHN, SURGERY LEADER

Dr. Isidore Cohn, of New Orleans, professor of clinical surgery at Tulane University, was entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George W. Fuller, 1125 St. Louis place, by the Atlanta fellows of the Southeastern Surgical Congress.

Dr. Cohn is in this city as a guest speaker on the program of the Fifth District Medical Society, before which he spoke Thursday evening. Dr. Cohn is a fellow of the Southeastern Surgical Congress, the American College of Surgeons and a member of the Southern Surgical Association, American Medical Association and the Southern Medical Association.

The following fellows of the American Surgical Association and Southern Surgical Association attended the reception:

Millie Virginia Elston, of Piedmont, Cal., noted reader and impersonator, will present a program at the Peachtree Road Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock. She is appearing under the auspices of the church's Missionary Society of the church.

Miss Elston, an accomplished artist, will present a series of monologues in which she creates both humorous and dramatic characters and will also dramatize short stories and verse from the best authors.

She is the niece of Mrs. G. H. Doyle, of 585 East Pace's Ferry road.

B. & O. SOON TO TEST
STREAM-LINED TRAIN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Sun says the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has about completed work on a "revolutionary" streamlined steam locomotive expected to rival the Diesel-powered Burlington Zephyr.

"High officials have maintained the greatest secrecy, planning to withhold all announcements until tests have proven definitely successful," the paper says.

However, it is understood that preliminary tests have shown the new engine capable of great speed. Full information on the new engine is expected in about a week.

12 Negroes Fined in Lottery Cases; Racket Continues To Flourish Here

The battle front of law and order versus lottery operators moved forward another step Thursday when 12 negroes were fined $50 each in city criminal court and a thirteenth person was sentenced to prison for lottery offenses.

With reports continuing to pour into the solicitor-general's office that lottery operators are failing to "pay off" when players guess the correct figure in the number game, police in the city and county marshaled their forces and redoubled their efforts to stamp out the gambling which Solicitor-General John A. Boykin believes is leading directly to the growth of a powerful organized underworld in Atlanta.

In the past two weeks scores of persons, white and colored alike, have not been able to collect their money after they had "hit the bug" in the "number" game and many of these have told their troubles to the solicitor. Numerous indictments are now being prepared by the grand jury against the operators who "welched" in paying the winners.

"That's the trouble with the lotteries here," a man who is conversant with lotteries in Atlanta and in several south and central American countries explained Thursday. "The operators here are crooks and will not pay the gambling debts when they have been hit hard. But in Panama, for instance, the lottery is conducted by state officials and other prominent and upright citizens and the people holding the lucky numbers are paid what they win."

Panama Lottery Fair.
He said the Panama national weekly lottery, with drawings every Sunday morning, is operated in the fairest manner possible. Tickets are sold during the week and the sellers get a commission. A child selects the winning number by reaching into a revolving cylinder filled with small rubber balls, each bearing one numeral.

Four are selected and constitute the winning series of figures. The holder of a ticket bearing this number wins $20,000. Each ticket, however, is divided into 20 pieces and may be sold separately, so that the holders win $1,000 for each piece they possess.

In Atlanta, though, the winning figure is a series of numerals in the total bond sales for the day and any number of persons may have selected the same figure. In such a case, the lottery companies are hit so hard they are frequently unable to pay.

Last week lottery operators were hit for approximately $70,000 in one day and almost every company in the city switched in the past.

The failure to pay hurt business to the tune of several thousand dollars daily but in spite of that and also the fact that innumerable persons have been caught and convicted, lottery offenses, the "number" game still flourishes.

Operators Under New Names.
Operators who welched last week were out in the field with hundreds of writers this week under new names, the operator of one company said. "The suckers left holding the bag last week have left it before and will do so again. They are buying numbers every day now, just like they did before."

Even when the writers are arrested and lottery paraphernalia confiscated it seems to do little good. The material for betting on the number game is inexpensive and when a writer is caught by the police he is bonded out immediately by his "bosses."

Earlier this week three writers were arrested in a raid by city police on a "station" pay-off house on McDaniel street, a policeman said. When the three were taken to the lieutenant's office at the police station to be booked, the arresting officers found bondsmen already waiting to furnish bail for the writers. Those writers, charged with a violation of the law, never saw the inside of the jail.

Ten or a dozen writers, or sellers of chances, are tried every day in city criminal court and first offenders are fined $50 to $100. The fine is paid. Second offenders, however, are given straight jail sentences.

But the law knows it is catching only the little fish. The operators are being prepared by the grand jury themselves sit back and enjoy the money the writers make for them but they take no chances personally. The lottery business is run just like the bootlegging business, for virtually every lottery operator formerly was a bootlegger—an illegal whiskey runner who has changed from one lawless occupation to another because the money is "easier."

A successful bootlegger never gets caught. He never handles a bottle of the beverage and only the "runners" are apprehended. He pays them $50 a week to take all the chances and he pays their fines when they are caught and convicted. So it is in the lottery business here, a business which grosses a great deal more than $20,000 a day in Atlanta. The operator can afford to pay the fines of a writer while he sits safe in his shell.

Thousands of Numbers Sold.
Who plays lotteries in Atlanta? Well, there are thousands upon thousands of "numbers" sold every day and if the buyers were segregated and put out in the country together they would form one of the largest cities in Georgia. The betting on "the bug," as players call the number, is not confined to negroes, who really began the practice here. In fact, the whites have virtually taken the game away from their colored brethren.

A lottery operator said his business was mostly with people of the white collar class. He has writers in the Hurt and Candler buildings and in most other large office buildings in the city. There are writers in apartment houses throughout the North Side.

So it is the "respectable white-collar class" which is really supporting the parasitic ex-bootlegger now engaged in selling lottery chances.

Bettors usually wager from 1 cent to $1 on the number they "feel" will win.

Lives Too High in Jail, Wife Drops Complaint

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 18. (UP)—Mrs. Anna Ponchurak had her former husband, Joseph, committed to the county jail last September for failure to pay alimony. Today she obtained a court order calling for his release.

Mrs. Ponchurak virtually asked that her ex-husband be ejected from the jail because he claims he is "having the time of his life." He has played handball daily, dined wholesomely and well three times a day, has not had to do a lick of work, and hasn't had to pay a cent for his vacation.

win. But the winners are now having to take a double chance. As one disgruntled (potential) winner said: "The bet's less than half won when you hit the number. The big chance comes in the collection of the money."

SEEKS NEVADA DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The year-old pact of blonde Claire Luce, the actress, and her wealthy husband, Clifford Warren Smith, to "disagree and separate" without a divorce approached an end today.

Smith, one of the heirs to the fortune of the four Smith brothers, of Maine, and stepson of Newcomb Carlton, chairman of the board of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has filed suit for divorce in Minden, Nev., charging cruelty, desertion and infidelity.

Under terms of the separation, Smith's attorney, Bennett E. Siegelstein, announced that Miss Luce would receive $25,000 a year for life, but said today that if the Nevada suit is successful it "would cancel and terminate any previous agreement."

Woman Asks $250,000 On Alienation Charge

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A $250,000 damage suit filed in Albemarle county circuit charges Mrs. Marie Raymond Maxwell, of New York and Paris, with alienating the affections of her son, George L. Maxwell, New York Stock Exchange member and clubman, from his wife, Mrs. Katherine Thraves Maxwell.

The daughter of Colonel and Mrs. M. V. Thraves declares that while she was ill in New York city between the birth of a daughter of December 30, 1933, and March 5, of this year, her husband's mother "poisoned his mind" against her. She asserts further in an accompanying bill, that Maxwell decided his Albemarle estate, Oakleigh, to his mother, with her connivance, in order to block Mrs. Katherine Maxwell's attempt to secure support for herself and daughter, now 10 months old.

Attorneys for the plaintiff filed a second action, a suit for separation in which she asks custody of the child, has been instituted in New York and a conference is to be held there in the immediate future to set a date for a hearing of this suit.

NOTED IMPERSONATOR APPEARS HERE TONIGHT

Millie Virginia Elston, of Piedmont, Cal., noted reader and impersonator, will present a program at the Peachtree Road Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock. She is appearing under the auspices of the church's Missionary Society of the church.

Miss Elston, an accomplished artist, will present a series of monologues in which she creates both humorous and dramatic characters and will also dramatize short stories and verse from the best authors.

She is the niece of Mrs. G. H. Doyle, of 585 East Pace's Ferry road.

B. & O. SOON TO TEST STREAM-LINED TRAIN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Sun says the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has about completed work on a "revolutionary" streamlined steam locomotive expected to rival the Diesel-powered Burlington Zephyr.

"High officials have maintained the greatest secrecy, planning to withhold all announcements until tests have proven definitely successful," the paper says.

However, it is understood that preliminary tests have shown the new engine capable of great speed. Full information on the new engine is expected in about a week.

HOLLYWOOD REVUE AT WIEUCA TONIGHT

A "Scene in Evening Sheen." Madame Currie's latest invention, will be the featured presentation in her Hollywood revue, to be staged tonight at Wieuca inn.

Madame Currie is a nationally known hair stylist, formerly of Hollywood. She is the creator of many well-known accessories being used by leading beauty salons in the country. Her elaborate presentations will include corrective coiffures for the 1934 debutantes, corrective coiffures for the 1934 bridal party, and for the 1934 college girls and students on parade. This elaborate revue will include seven acts of vaudeville, with dancing all evening and the final presentation will be a contest where 50 of Atlanta's young women will compete for loving cups donated by Helen Hayes, M.G.M. movie star, who is appearing in her latest picture next week at Loew's Grand theater. The young women appearing in this revue will represent Atlanta's leading beauty salons, who are co-operating with Madame Currie in staging the revue. This affair will be one of the largest and most unusual of its kind ever presented in Atlanta. It has been shown in many cities under the sponsorship of the leading beauty associations of the country.

REVIEWING THE SHOWS

Classic Play and Book, 'Mrs. Wiggs,' Plays Fox

One of America's immortal classics, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," has been made into a delightful photoplay by Paramount and comes to the Fox theater today with Pauline Lord, W. C. Fields and Zasu Pitts in the featured roles. Adapted from the play by Alice Regan Rice and Anne Crawford Flexner, the film also incorporates several elements of the book which has delighted millions of readers for nearly two generations.

All of the unforgettable episodes from the story are here; the annexation of "Cuby," the curious Thanksgiving dinner, the hilarious theater party, Miss Hazy's wedding and the tragic death of little Jimmy. Acting the title role, Pauline Lord takes on new significance when she utters them. W. C. Fields is excellent in a featured role. The scenes between Fields and Miss Pitts, who is cast as "Miss Hazy," are particularly good. The film does not lack in romantic appeal, for lovely Evelyn Venable and Kent Taylor are assigned the lovers' roles as "Miss Lucy" and "Bob."

"Popeye the Sailor" appears in another of his funny cartoons titled, "A Dream Walking," and Grantland Rice presents a Spotlight titled, "Keeping Time." The newscast completes a perfect screen program.

Rogers in 'Judge Priest' Held Over for 2 Days

Due to the tremendous popularity of "Judge Priest," Will Rogers' latest picture, the Paramount theater has made arrangements to hold it for two more days. Friday and Saturday will be the last chance to see "Judge Priest" at the Paramount.

Starting Sunday, Cecil B. DeMille's production, "Cleopatra," will bring to Atlanta one of the most beautifully and lavishly constructed dramas ever seen. The story of the Egyptian siren whose love was great enough to wreck two nations, is the true story of the fall of the Roman empire and a great history lesson in itself.

With Claudette Colbert, Warren Williams and Henry Wilcox playing the principal parts, "Cleopatra" brings to the screen all the talent of DeMille, who has come up from the beginning of motion pictures, more than 20 years ago, with each new film topping his previous one.

'Girl in Danger' Plays Rialto Opening Today

"Girl in Danger," Columbia production with Ralph Bellamy and Shirley Grey in the principal roles, opens at the Rialto theater today. It is a brilliantly told story of a modern girl's rash entry into crookdom, "just for the sake of a thrill" and the nether escape she had from arrest, prison and even death.

In addition to the feature the Rialto has booked some extra special short subjects for the new program which will run for four days, tomorrow, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

"Girl in Danger" begins with the participation by a young society girl in a jewel robbery "just for a thrill." The thieves leave the priceless gem that is her locket as a hostage against absolutely unsuspecting, but a smart young inspector of police, getting on the trail, suspects the girl and visits her apartment.

From this point on the story advances in steady crescendo of excitement to the moment when the gangsters are on the verge of killing the girl they have held as a hostage against the police. The finish is as exciting as any finish can be and leaves every audience delighted and breathless from a humdrum of an action tale.

Helen Hayes at Grand In Romance by Barrie

After a year on Broadway, during which she played the title role of "Mary of Scotland," Helen Hayes has returned to Hollywood to bring her womanly dignity and tender charm to Sir James Barrie's great play, "What Every Woman Knows." This film starts today at Loew's Grand theater, with Brian Aherne (who played Robert Browning in the New York production of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"), as her leading man. Others in the notable cast are Madge Evans, Lucille Watson, Dudley Digges and Henry Stephenson.

Barrie, who wrote "The Little Minister" and "Sentimental Tommy," gives "What Every Woman Knows" much of the quiet feeling and humorously understanding which made his plays and novels famous. The film version, produced by Irving Thalberg, has been directed by Gregory La Cava with immense sincerity, bringing the atmosphere of Glasgow to the screen with much conviction and beauty.

Miss Hayes is seen as Maggie Wylie, an eligible young Scotswoman who somehow fails to appeal to men. Her father watches in silent distress while one after another of Maggie's prospective suitors turn away from her.

But the Wylies are forced to take an interest in Shand when they discover he has been breaking into their home, like a common burglar, but not to steal anything—only to avail himself of their fine library, which the Wylies have only for show.

Shand's interest in these books convinces the Wylie family that he is a young man of superior intelligence. They agree to lend Shand money for his education if he will agree, after five years, to have elapsed, to marry Maggie—if Maggie wants him.

Special Performance Midnight at Atlanta

There will be a special midnight show at the Atlanta theater tonight, give, primarily for visiting Legionnaires and their friends, stopping over here en route to the national Legion convention at Miami.

In addition to the regular program which will include all the features that have made the burlesque show at the Atlanta popular among local theatergoers, there will be a number of added attractions, including Francis Stone, a new strip artist whose surprising act will not be included at the regular performances until the opening of the new production, "Paris Bound," on Sunday.

Grown-Up Amateurs Play Capitol Tonight

Amateur stage performers in the adult class will appear on the stage at the Capitol theater tonight at the 9 o'clock show. The occasion is the regular amateur contest held every Friday night at which time three prizes are offered. The regular stage and screen program will also be presented.

Amateurs scheduled to appear tonight are Russell Taylor, buck and wing dancer; Eugene Fields, imitations; Bill Baggarly, singer; Bobby Hughes, blackface; Hazel Barnwell, dancer; Linda Leach, singer; Anne Renfro, acrobatic dancer, and Lawrence Davis, humorist.

The Capitol's regular program, now playing, has the Edgar Wallace mystery story on the screen, "Return of the Terror," with Mary Astor, Lyle Talbot and Frank McHugh. On the stage the Capitol has eight acts of vaudeville presented by the unit show, "Scandals."

The theater will make a complete change in program starting Sunday. The new feature will be "College Coach," starring Dick Powell, Warner Brothers' singing star, supported by Ann Dvorak and Pat O'Brien. The new stage show is "Crazy People."

H. EMMETT WILSON PASSES AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 18.—(AP) H. Emmett Wilson, a widely known member of the bar in Georgia, died suddenly tonight while playing bridge with friends. He was 72 years old.

His death was attributed to a heart attack. He died within a few minutes after he was stricken.

Mr. Wilson was a picturesque character, an ardent prohibitionist and a stickler for the higher ethics of his profession.

He has always taken an aggressive interest in local politics and was at the time of his death a member of the Savannah aldermanic board. He was chairman of the Talmadge-for-Governor Club during the recent campaign.

A. S. SCHELL, 76, DIES AT EAST POINT HOME

Stricken while sawing wood, A. S. Schell, 76, widely known resident of East Point, died late last Thursday afternoon in the yard of his home on East Cleveland avenue.

He was an East Point pioneer and for many years was widely known as a merchant. He was active in the affairs of the Baptist church and in the P. and A. M. Surviving are his wife, six daughters, Mrs. R. B. Callahan, Mrs. Harvey Lester, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Charley Britton, Mrs. Gwin Lipes, and Mrs. John Deaton, the latter of St. Petersburg, Fla. and four sons, H. T. Algren, and William A. Schell, of East Point, and K. M. Schell, of Chattanooga. Arrangements for the funeral will be announced by Howard L. Carmichael.

Robinson and Connally Picture Europe As Inflamed Area.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Two members of the United States senate foreign relations committee, returning from abroad, reported today an increasing anxiety and dread of war in European capitals.

Both senators—Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, majority leader, and Tom Connally, of Texas—attended sessions of the interparliamentary union at Istanbul, Turkey.

"I have been amazed to note the state of the public mind in some of the countries visited," asserted Senator Robinson, who with Mrs. Robinson, of Arkansas, majority leader, and Tom Connally, of Texas—attended sessions of the interparliamentary union at Istanbul, Turkey.

TEXTILE CRISIS IS NEAR—GORMAN

Strike Leader Says Mills Refuse to Co-operate With U. S. Workers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(P)—Textile employers were accused tonight by Francis J. Gorman, organization director of the United Textile Workers, of "doing everything in their power" to provoke a new crisis in the industry.

In a formal statement, the generalissimo of the recent general textile strike, asserted: "Our great anxiety is that the industry should cease its ancient tactics and develop a co-operative friendship. We shall be glad to co-operate but the day of giving our last ounce of strength for textile profits is over and we want that understood."

Gorman's ultimatum followed criticism by Peter Van Horn, chairman of the silk code authority; Arthur Besse, chairman of the wool code authority; and Ernest N. Hood, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, of the president's executive orders setting up boards to

Mustaches Protect Health, Says Doctor

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—(P)—An upper lip health risk that may justify the "eyebrow" mustache as a real protection was explained to the American College of Surgeons here tonight.

Any infection of the upper lip, such as might arise from even a trivial razor scratch or whatever risk there may be in kissing, is much more potentially dangerous than similar infection on the lower lip.

The facial mechanisms involved in this situation and the not infrequently fatal results were explained to a symposium on infections by Frederick A. Collier, M.D., of Ann Arbor, Mich.

A person with anything larger than an ordinary pimple on the upper lip, he said, really ought to be in bed in a hospital because of what might happen.

study and regulate machine loads in the three industries.

"The wool section of the industry," Gorman said, "is making a wholly unwarranted complaint to the president and southern cotton textile interests are coming perilously near flying battle flags."

"Right now I want to call attention to the fact that the United Textile Workers notified President Roosevelt of acceptance of his peace proposal, the employers did not accept the truce. If they withheld acceptance of the truce so as to retain freedom to make war, they will have to accept the consequences. The union will not shrink from anything that is necessary to bring about an end of medieval conditions in the textile industry."

The executive orders criticized by spokesmen for employers provide not only that the machine load shall not be increased in textile mills from September 21 and February 1, but empowers the work assignment boards, in their discretion, to require reductions in work loads increased since July, 1933, when such burdens are found to entail excessive effort.

indications were the assignment boards with one individual acting as the impartial representative of all three groups.

Gorman accused southern cotton mill employers of inconsistencies in the meeting in Greenville yesterday of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association by "adopting resolutions, on the one hand asking the government to help them further, while on the other hand demanding that the government get out."

Several months ago my stomach went back on me and everything I ate seemed to turn as sour as vinegar," says J. R. T., well-known market manager of Atlanta. "Gas, bloating and dizziness kept me miserable. Frequently I had to knock off work during the day and lie down. Thor's Vitamin B Compound overcame my trouble entirely. I feel like it was worth a fortune to me."

From Danville, Va., Mr. H. N. P. writes: "I have used several bottles of your tablets and have gotten fine results from same. I am taking several more because I am certain they will do the work."

If you are weak, thin and run-down, suffer from acid stomach, poor digestion, constipation, auto-intoxication, worn out and irritable, ask your druggist today for Thor's Vitamin B Compound. It costs only sixty cents, and the very first bottle is guaranteed to produce satisfactory results or your money refunded (adv.).

BRITON WILL ADDRESS ATLANTANS TONIGHT

Baptist young people and their friends in all denominations will hear Dr. T. G. Dunning, of London, England, at an address at Druid Hills Baptist church tonight, according to Arthur O. Hayes, president of the Atlanta Association of Y. P. U., under whose auspices the meeting is held. Leaders in many phases of Christian work have accepted invitations to be honor guests for the event.

Dr. Dunning, who is director of youth activities in Great Britain and Ireland and chairman of the young people's committee of the Baptist World Alliance, will deliver a series of addresses in the United States on Christian youth activities of the world. He is conversant with recent youth movements in many European countries.

The meeting Friday night will be a chief activity of the Atlanta young people, it is stated. There will be musical numbers by Miss Jewell McNair and Miss Helen Schaid, a violin solo by Miss Elizabeth Jackson and a quartet number presented by the following: Ray Nixon, T. Stanley Perry, Haskell Boyter and Dr. Louis D. Newton.

Dr. Dunning is a graduate of Oxford. His address will give an interpretation of the contrasts in student life in Great Britain and the United States.

GREYLIEN RECEIVERS LOSE COURT DECISION

Georgia receivers of the Greylien Realty Corporation, which went into receivership some time ago, are required to turn all Georgia property of the company to the trustee appointed by the federal court in New York, according to a ruling handed down Wednesday in New York by the United States district court.

This information was received in Atlanta by the firm of Little, Powell, Reid & Goldstein, counsel in the case, it was announced. Henry Troutman and William Matthews, of Atlanta, are receivers for the properties, which include residences, residences and other real estate in Atlanta and vicinity.

The ruling on Wednesday, it was stated, gives the Georgia receivers the right to appeal to the circuit court of appeals.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40 Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

It's Often Nothing More Serious Than a Touch of "Acid Stomach"

HOW TO RELIEVE IT

Many people begin to look back on life when 40 rolls around. They worry. Notice they've lost "snap." Have headaches oftener—Feel "dizzy." Tired and low a lot. Are prone to stomach upsets. They think they're "growing old."

Not at all, usually. Scientists say the cause, in a great many cases, is only this: a tendency to an acid condition of the stomach, perhaps the result of faulty diet. Nothing more.

The thing to do is simply to neutralize excess stomach acids. When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, all you do is take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. Soon you feel like another person. Stomach calm. Fewer headaches. And the pep and energy you thought lost, come back again!

Try this. Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS" or the new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, convenient to take with you anywhere.

Also in Tablet Form: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Wearing of Forget-Me-Nots Is Urged During Drive Today

Atlanta will wear forget-me-nots today as a tribute to the Disabled Veterans of the World War in the annual drive sponsored by members of the Betty Harrison Jones Chapter No. 1, D. A. V.

Funds from the sale will be used for emergency relief problems among the wartime disabled under the supervision of the chapter of which L. L. Hargrove is commander.

Hundreds of Atlanta women will serve as volunteer workers and committees will be stationed at all prominent points throughout the city and at all public buildings. Mrs. Henry M. Nicholas is general chairman for the drive and Mrs. Franklin Chalmers is co-chairman.

What bankers have done in the past must be recognized. There is a weakness in the separateness of bankers. None has authority to speak for bankers. None has authority to fight for bankers.

Charles A. Miller, former president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and president of the Savings Banks Trust Company, said real estate would not revive until the heavy industries put back to work and those in building trades given employment.

Kingston Child Dies; Father Critically Ill

KINGSTON, Ga., Oct. 18.—Elizabeth Barnard, 6-year-old daughter of Dr. John E. Barnard, prominent Baptist minister of this section, who lives here, died today at a home hospital of double pneumonia, and at the same time her father was unconscious in an adjoining room, suffering from the same disease.

Dr. Barnard was carried to the hospital Saturday and his condition is pronounced as critical, and his daughter was admitted on Monday.

The funeral of the child will be held Friday at the Kingston Baptist church, with interment in the local cemetery.

Dr. Barnard has been pastor of a number of north Georgia churches, and was at Carverville, when the present First Baptist church was erected.

DRIVE ON BACK TAXES BRINGS $20,551 TO STATE

The state revenue commission's drive on delinquent income taxpayers has already netted the state $20,551, John Andy Smith, chief clerk of the commission's income tax bureau, said Thursday.

The commission recently sent out about 20,000 letters to taxpayers charging them all taxes, interest and penalties totaling as high as $30,000 for the last four years.

The taxpayers receiving the letters are making settlements," Mr. Smith said Thursday. "Some of them owe only a few cents but others owe hundreds of dollars. We are confident that the program will bring the books up to date by January 1."

FRENCHMAN INSPECTS COTTON MILLS HERE

Andre LeBlanc, son of Emile LeBlanc, owner of a large number of textile mills in northern France, is in the city inspecting American milling methods. While here he will be the guest of Frank Rowe, 688 East Morningstar drive, N. E.

He spent two months studying mill methods in England and for the past five months has been in this country visiting textile mills. This is his first visit to America. He will sail for home on November 10.

SELECTION OF FOODS REQUIRES GREAT CARE

Schools, hospitals, sanatoriums and other publicly and privately owned institutions who feed great numbers of people are faced with the grave responsibility of safeguarding public health, according to E. F. Wright, manager of the Stone Baking Company.

"In the selection of foodstuffs the greatest care and discrimination must be exercised," Mr. Wright said. "Food must be bought from the standpoint of nutritional value, while at the same time purchases are governed by a price factor."

"Boy vitamin D bread is now used in several hundred southern schools and institutions. Dietitians and nutrition authorities know that vitamin D is vital to the development of the bone structure of the body, and the teeth, in the young especially. They know that vitamins A, B, C and E are found abundantly in the average daily diet and therefore need be no cause for concern."

"Professor Theodore F. Zucker, of Columbia University, discovered a process whereby the essential vitamin D might be extracted from the cod liver oil. This concentrated extract, while it contained the vitamin, retained neither the taste, texture or flavor of the oil which is so disagreeable to so many people. It is this extract, which, under an exclusive license from Columbia University, holders of the Zucker patents, the Stone Baking Company incorporates in O Boy vitamin D bread, which is sold at no increase in price. Five slices of this bread eaten daily will supply more vitamin D than is usually required in the ordinary daily diet," concluded Mr. Wright.

DINNER DANCE ENDS DRUGGISTS MEETING

The three-day meeting of southeastern Rexall druggists held here at the Biltmore hotel was brought to a climax with a dinner-dance and floor show in the Georgia ballroom of the hotel Thursday night, coming as the final affair on the program.

In charge of the entertainment was C. B. Revery, Jr., president of the Georgia Rexall Club. A feature of the program was the dance music furnished by Pete Underwood and his Biltmore orchestra, assisted by Betty Elliott and Harry White, vocalists.

ATLANTA, GA., OCT. 19, 1934.

WELCOME THE VETERANS

Today and tomorrow approximately many thousand members of the American Legion will gather in Atlanta in a unique "pre-convention" to precede the annual meeting of the organization in Miami next week.

The veterans will come from every section of the country and from practically every state. They will be accompanied by bugle and drum corps and bands and their two-day stay will be a gala event, with processions, contests and balls.

It is expected that thousands of Georgia legionnaires will come to the city to welcome their brother veterans from other states and that other visitors will be present in large numbers to view the various events and take part in the merry-making.

Every Legion post in the country has been invited by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to visit Atlanta during these two days, and assured of a sincere and enthusiastic welcome. Several of the national radio programs have given publicity to the events in Atlanta and the "pre-convention" has been called to the attention of the nation in various other ways.

Not since the Shrine meeting more than two decades ago has Atlanta entertained at one time as many visitors as it is anticipated will throng the city during the next two days.

Numerous committees have been named to see that everything goes smoothly for the visitors while they are in Atlanta, but they will be so numerous that every resident of the city must make of himself or herself a welcoming committee of one if the city's reputation for hospitality is to be upheld.

This is the first time in many years that Atlanta has had the opportunity of playing host to so large a gathering, representative of every section of the country. The members of the Junior chamber and those who have co-operated with them have worked indefatigably to assure the visitors will be entertained in a manner that will make their stay in the city an entirely pleasurable one.

That Atlanta will outdo itself to welcome and pay honor to the heroes of the greatest war of all history is assured in advance. The veterans will be given the key to the city and the latch-key to the homes and hearts of all Atlantans.

NO LAUGHING MATTER

Commenting upon the vigorous opposition being voiced in Hanover county, Virginia, to the proposal that the county board of supervisors be supplanted by a county manager, the Detroit News in a humorous vein comments upon the charge of one of the opponents of the plan that it "would be highly detrimental to the county's best interests, for it could not but destroy the people's right to name their own officers."

The Detroit newspaper is led to somewhat ironically observe:

What fun the people must have, down there in old Virginia, naming their own officers! And what a lot of them they can name, including all the supervisors! And what fun it is to pay the salaries after they have named them! Of course, it would not be half as much fun to name just one solitary manager and pay just one salary.

No doubt such a situation appears in a humorous light to those living in communities having efficient, economical governments—but it is a serious matter in the south, and especially in Georgia, where it appears to be all too true that the voters seem more interested in their right to designate unnecessary and inefficient officeholders than they are in the vitally emergent question of effecting governmental reforms that will reduce those burdens.

Georgia, with more counties than any other state except Texas, which is far larger, is paying an inexcusable price for superfluous local governments, both in money and inefficient public service. The voters of the many small counties in the state have had the wisdom of county consolidations drilled into them time and again, but they stubbornly stick to the privilege of electing officials who, in many cases, do more harm than good.

It is one thing for our Detroit contemporary, in a state with a minimum of local governments, to figuratively chuckle up its sleeve over the strange lack of logic in the arguments advanced against economical and efficient government in the south, but it is a far different matter to the people of this section. It is a matter of serious concern, impressed with each visit of the tax collector.

FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

Today the annual appeal in behalf of the Disabled Veterans of the World War will be made on the streets of Atlanta, and the people of the city should contribute even more liberally than they have in past years.

With many of these veterans who were shot down while fighting for their country the passing years make their condition the more deserving of the sympathetic interest of those whose safety they fought to preserve.

That their sufferings and their lonely hours may be less difficult to bear, they must receive more attention and more effort be exerted to make their lot less hard to bear.

These are the chief purposes for which Forget-Me-Not Day is held each year. From the receipts taken in today will be measured the appreciation of the public for those who were struck down while defending their country.

Many of the disabled soldiers have opportunity for physical rehabilitation, at least to the extent that they can once more mingle with those with whom they worked and played before they sacrificed their physical fitness upon the altar of patriotism.

The disabled soldiers are the charges of the government, but there are many things the government cannot do for them. These services must be performed by the local organization of the D. A. V. and their auxiliaries, and it is to support the work of these organizations that Forget-Me-Not Day is staged.

There is no more humanitarian cause than the one to which Atlanta will contribute today. There is a moral obligation to extend every comfort and every mental diversion to the men who are dependent because they answered the call of their country. There is the further duty of every person blessed with good health and full physical powers to aid in lessening the suffering of those less fortunate and to bring hope to those who may once more be restored to full vigor.

The maximum results are secured from the expenditure of every dollar taken in on Forget-Me-Not Day—and Atlanta, more able to give this year and with the need greater, should contribute liberally.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Hugo Lodewijk's First Word.

My son, Hugo Lodewijk, who attains his first year this month of October and who would, I dare say, delight Herr Hitler and the fascists expertly in their reign with his physiological attributions, while blond, the clearest blue eyes and a first like a cleaver, entered the general talking contest that has been going on in this world since Adam and Eve, with a violently explosive epithet the other day. He has been playing with a contraption which is shaped like a coffee-mill, and which emits a low, mellow and cacophonous strains of music when the handle is turned. For several days he had been busy trying to get the lid off, returning the charge with the doggedness of the other day which he is a member, after each nap. Finally, he succeeded. The lid flew off, but he never even glanced after it. He looked up at his mother, who was looking at another look, stuck his finger in, hastily withdrew it, pursed his lips like a muslin, and said you must forgive me, but I must report the truth, he said; "Daddy! Unmistakable as the sound of Gabriel's trumpet of the last day, I have been wondering who taught him that word. Surely such things can't be invisible. He looked, and then what did he mean? Was it disgust, or young, or amazement? No further explanations can be furnished now. He hasn't spoken a word since.

Bombing Each Other.

A bomb was thrown in a building used by white Russian military officers in Paris the other day. It was the news of it in a noon edition of the papers and I walked over in the direction of the Rue du Colisee, where it happened, which is not far from my home. A crowd had gathered before the door and I saw some high Russian dignitaries go in, amongst them General Miller, the commander-in-chief of the anti-bolshevik Russians. The police had also arrived on the scene, and had begun their investigation. General Miller did not need to investigate. This is the work of Moscow," he announced pompously.

Ten years ago I might have believed him. For then I did not know any better. But since the Koutieff affair, you remember the Russian general in Paris who disappeared without leaving a trace, a crime which General Miller also committed in Moscow, and the killing of President Doumer by Gorkoff, whom Miller accused of being a bolshevik, when he turned out to be one of his own followers, since those days I take that Moscow stuff with a pinch of salt. The white Russians do an inordinate amount of quarreling among themselves. In the Koutieff case, General Miller threatened his followers in an official order, that "there may be some more Koutieff cases before we have more of them."

Nobody benefited by Koutieff's disappearance so much as the group of exiles whose head is General Miller. To Moscow it should be absolutely immaterial whether there is one or more Russian generals sitting in Paris. None of them are very dangerous.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

WHO EVER HEARD OF HUMAN BEINGS EATING WHEAT?

A reader offers this suggestion for preparing wheat to eat:
"We drive out into the country and buy a bushel of wheat from time to time. The wheat is very fine, quite a while. We grind what we wish to use in the coffee mill as fine as possible, put it in a double boiler, cook for about 15 or 20 minutes the night before, and set back on the stove. In the morning we place it over the heat again just long enough to heat through. With or without sugar and milk or cream, this dish beats all the 'sawdust' cereals we have tried, and is far cheaper."

Another reader says:
"I am a retired farmer living in the city. On the farm I always ate my own wheat for breakfast, and often for supper too. Sometimes we parched or toasted the wheat a bit before grinding to impart a nutty, sweet flavor. To make biscuits or bread we ground the wheat fine and sometimes added a small portion of grocery flour. We raised about a bushel of wheat to the acre and the price then was about 50 cents a bushel. In the city we still grind wheat for our breakfast porridge, biscuits and bread. It is a nutty, sweet cereal we have tried, and is far cheaper."

Wheat Muffins.
2 tablespoonfuls shortening
1 egg beaten lightly
1 1/2 cups wheat finely ground
1/2 cup sweet milk
2 tablespoonfuls sugar
1/2 teaspoonful baking powder
1/2 teaspoonful salt
Cream together shortening and sugar, add egg, salt and milk, beat thoroughly, add ground wheat and baking powder and mix. Bake in 25 minutes in well greased tin in moderate oven.

Wheat Pancakes.
Beat only egg thoroughly, salt to taste, add one tablespoonful sugar. Dissolve a teaspoonful of soda in a pint of sour milk and mix in the egg. Thicken to batter consistency with finely ground wheat. Cook on griddle. I dare say there still survives a hardly fan who has tried Old Doc Brady's recipe for Bran Macaroons or Bran Cookies—the bran makes the difference between the two. Well, here's one in Colorado Springs who has, as she avers, improved on them, to wit:

Bran Macaroons.
One egg; one cup granulated sugar; 2 1/2 tablespoonfuls white flour; one cup finely chopped almonds; 1 1/2 tablespoonfuls wheat bran. Beat egg thoroughly, add sugar, salt and other ingredients. Drop the mixed batter with spoon onto well greased tins. Bake half an hour in a hot oven.

The Colorado cook uses 2 1/2 tablespoonfuls of ground wheat in place of the flour and brand in the macaroons, and bakes them 30 minutes. For wheat cookies she uses two and a half cups of ground wheat in place of the flour, white flour and graham flour, and bakes the cookies an hour. Whole wheat bread is practically equivalent to ordinary white bread in nutritive value, caloric fuel value, fattening effects. But whole wheat, if you grind your own wheat at home, retains vitamins which are removed by milling process and refinement. And these vitamins serve a useful purpose in preventing or correcting over-weight.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON.

ROW WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The inside story of what really happened between the White House and the all-powerful United States Chamber of Commerce in the recent questionnaire dispute is the best tale yet to illustrate how things are done backstage in Washington.

The White House refuses to confirm or deny it, and the chamber naturally cannot be expected to talk, but an authentic account of the affair can be had. It shows that the misunderstanding was not patched up in that recent conference between Mr. Roosevelt and the chamber president, Harriman, but exists worse than ever. Reverberations may be heard from now on.

QUESTION MARKS

The trouble began when the chamber some weeks ago issued that list of questions for the president to answer, implying that he must do so to clear up business uncertainty. The press rather generally interpreted the questionnaire as a noble effort to put the president on the spot. Mr. Roosevelt later said the questions sounded like that old one, "Why did you stop beating your wife?"

The White House was up and began an investigation to determine whether the chamber had ever before issued a questionnaire to a president. No precedent could be found. The C. of C. is understood to have informed New Dealers privately that the questions were not intended to be questions at all. They were simply a list of "subjects," like those which the chamber had occasionally in the past submitted to previous presidents.

That took the sting out of them a little, but not much, because all the so-called "subjects" still had question marks behind them. Also, the president was still publicly left on the spot.

PEACE?

After that phase quieted down, the chamber is understood to have dispatched an emissary to the White House, in an effort to make peace. This emissary explained the chamber was not gunning for the New Dealers and that Mr. Harriman would like to see Mr. Roosevelt.

No definite answer was given then, but before the emissary got back to chamber headquarters, the White House called up Mr. Harriman and told him to come over.

The conference was highly successful. The gentlemen shook hands and peace was again established. But Mr. Harriman walked out of the conference and informed newsmen that he had been called to the White House by the president.

You can imagine what effect that had on the Hyde Park squire when he saw it in the papers. He had decided to forget about the question marks, but here was Mr. Harriman making it appear that the White House had meekly initiated the peace arrangements.

It was obviously only an unfortunate circumstance, but when two circumstances like that occur in succession, they become something more than circumstances. Unquestionably the affair will be straightened out eventually, but just now it is dangerous to mention the C. of C. around the White House.

IDEA

The story being told in New Deal circles is that the C. of C. list was first prepared by two prominent bankers, whose names you all know, one in Chicago and one in New York. Both are leaders in the C. of C. It was in much stronger language when they originally offered it. The chamber directors toned it down considerably before making it public.

IODINE The funniest story now being told by New Deal critics is the one about the wife, the iodine and the dog. The wife is mistress of a prominent New Deal home and she likes dogs. It was some time ago that she was visited by a woman famed for her cookbooks. Possibly the dog had tasted some morsels from the cookbooks. At any rate, he greeted the famous cook by jumping up and taking a bite out of her.

The hostess heard the commotion and came running with the maid. Surveying the scene with dismay, she turned to the maid and said:

"Henrietta, hereafter you keep iodine in the drawing room."

P. S. Three months later she decided to get rid of the dog.

PROGRESS

The Morro Castle report, coming out next week, will recommend important new marine regulations, particularly as to steel superstructures, fire doors and ship construction.

More important, it will lament the fact that existing laws strongly protect ship owners against payment of real damages for carelessness. New laws will also be recommended on that subject.

NOTES

The administration is irked about the establishment of that new silver exchange in Montreal for the purpose of permitting American silver speculations and investment. Something may be done about it.

Attorney-General Cummings has changed his mind on the Houde case, because Labor Board Chairman Garrison dug up new evidence which makes prosecution advisable.

Some Liberty League friends say that outfit has raised $500,000, which is a lot of money these days.

The rumors about Louis Howe being seriously ill are incorrect. He is still resting at his Fall River home, but will return to the White House shortly.

Courage Is Three Parts Knowledge That One Is in the Right

By Robert Quillen

Some days ago a "rum runner" in my village was killed by a guilty conscience. One of the local boys had driven to a neighboring village to see his girl. Traveling a dirt road on the way home late at night, he saw another car emerge from a little-used farm road and enter the highway ahead of him.

Staying behind this car meant taking its dust, and he increased his speed with the intention of passing it. Doubtless he sounded his horn for gangway.

At any rate the other driver thought himself pursued and "stepped on it" to get across the county line. Entering the village on a back street that ended at a highway crossing, he raced into the trap at undiminished speed, realized his error too late to make the turn, and so ended his career in the debris of tangled machinery and broken fender fenders.

The guilty flee when no man pursueth, and conscience doth make cowards of us all.

Whatever conscience may be, if only a lively dread of being found out, few of us have a conscience who are not.

Some time ago a school man entered a friend's office on some business and found the friend's son there with a group of acquaintances.

The son was an apple-cheeked lad of 20, easily embarrassed, and some mischief prompted the school man to tease him about a complimentary remark made by a young lady teacher.

It was an innocent joke, but the school man's way of beginning it was unfortunate.

"Young man," he said in mock severity, "I must report you to your father."

The youth flushed painfully and then turned white. And his look of fear and guilt shamed and every one present that he dreaded the exposure of some serious offense.

The hardened criminal may feel no remorse or shame, but the ordinary individual has a conscience whose state determines the degree of his poise.

Boy or man, it is secret shame that causes embarrassment, timidity or "yellowness."

A conscience free of all offense gives a sense of security and ease, as knowledge of his high birth gives poise to the prince.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Two Friends NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A new roster of the friends of the common man in this country ought to include, up near the top, the names of two ladies who, at first glimpse, would seem to be decidedly reactionary and oblivious to the problems of the working people. These would be Mrs. Lucy Cotton Thomas-Amant-Hann-Magraw, a former actress, and Mrs. E. S. McLean, of Washington, D. C. Possibly when the smoke and dust of the great readjustment have blown away they will deserve rank above Mr. Roosevelt and Miss Frances Perkins.

Mrs. Lucy Cotton Thomas-Amant-Hann-Magraw has confided to Miss Geraldine Sartin, of the New York World-Telegram, a plan of hers to develop a playground for persons with the proper background at the old Deauville casino in Miami Beach, Fla. This is a structure built of purple mud on a lath frame in which Tex Rickard was planning to establish his American Monte Carlo when he suddenly set down his highball and complained of pains. The ambulance which carried Tex on his last ride took him past the casino on his way to the little hospital on the beach. The last time your correspondent saw the casino it needed tinting and there were realtors' signs on the walls, yelling for action of some kind. The windows were boarded up.

Mrs. McLean is the possessor of the famous Hope diamond which has become a Sunday's editors' standby. A topic as durable as the man-eating puffer plant of Abyssinia and the Doomsday mystery. It is only one item in a large collection of jewelry belonging to Mrs. McLean.

Hope Diamond Irked Soviets.

Not long ago, Mrs. McLean returned from an excursion to Moscow and reported that she had gone out in public wearing her jewels, contrary to the custom of the country, with the deliberate intention of giving the people a thrill. One gathered that she also intended to flaunt the Hope diamond. She was quite proud of her independent spirit.

Mrs. Magraw told Miss Sartin she was not at all sure that she would be able to keep Deauville open to the public. She wished to do that much for humanity.

"I feel," she said, "that it is the reward for all my striving to express artistic beauty. There are 60 rooms. We will rent them for $30, $40 and $50 a day."

She is also planning to build a bathhouse for her little daughter's dog, Rex.

Rich Ladies Sow Seeds of Revolt.

Of course the conduct of Mrs. Magraw and Mrs. McLean is not likely to endear them immediately to the working class but that is not so say that they are not serving the cause of the poor. They are the forgotten man. Where Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Perkins and the other avowed friends pursue a slow course which takes them into coal mines, mill towns and city slums, dragging the poor and holding out a provisional promise of pie in the sky, ladies like Mrs. Magraw and Mrs. McLean achieve the quick result of making the local community aware of the forgotten man.

Certainly a revolutionary leader could hardly ask for more helpful propaganda than these two, and a more favorable press than that which quotes them literally and records their extravagance faithfully and without comment. We should be grateful to the ladies for promoting a redistribution of wealth—should find one hour of Mrs. Magraw or Mrs. McLean before an audience of poor working people to see the whole season's program of the radical orators provided the ladies could be relied on to express themselves naturally. Mrs. McLean, of the should wear a million in jewels in addressing the desperate unemployed.

Reserve Places For These Ladies.

When the reform or revolution of whatever it may be has been accomplished and they begin erecting statues to the American Lenin in the coal country and the slave centers of west Tennessee, certain pedestals should be reserved for statues to the lady who expressed artistic beauty in a $50-a-day hotel for persons with the proper background in the fifth winter of the long panic and the one who brought the world's attention to the poor of Moscow just to give them a thrill.

Sometimes your correspondent wonders whether such people can honestly be that detached and reckless. It seems that they must be secret agents of the government, engaged to do this and drive the common people fighting mad.

84 HEAD OF CATTLE BURNED IN WRECK

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Eighty-four head of relief shipped cattle were burned to death and several box cars were destroyed by fire today when an Illinois Central fast freight was derailed in south Jackson. Sparks from flying rails set fire to a carload of canned oil which burned.

Julius Jones, 35, riding the freight was painfully but not severely hurt. All members of the train crew escaped uninjured.

$5,000 each, the same as those of Racklen and Weaver. Judge Davis set 3 o'clock Friday afternoon for a hearing on the petition.

CASES AGAINST 7 NEGROES TO REACH GRAND JURY TODAY

Bills charging the circulation of literature will be presented to Fulton county grand jury today against seven Atlanta negroes arrested following a raid Monday morning in which a large quantity of alleged communistic matter was seized.

A further evidence of "red" activity in the city, which Solicitor-General Boykin says is "going on" in the city, was brought out Thursday when Boykin received an anonymous typewritten communication threatening to "increase our activities 500 percent."

Boykin is now preparing the state's case against Annie Mae Leathers and her sister, Mrs. Leah Young, under $5,000 bonds on charges of circulating insurrectionary literature during the recent textile strike.

The cases will be tried before Judge Lee B. Wyatt, of LaGrange, next Tuesday. Judge Wyatt presided over the trial of the Atlanta negroes, who two years ago received an 18 to 20-year sentence for a similar offense.

Hernando was released several weeks ago on $15,000 bond and is now touring the state on a lecture program with the mother of one of the "Scottsboro" negroes.

Two Girls Freed.

Miss Kay Alling, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Alling and Miss Leah Leach, arrested at the same time, were freed Thursday afternoon on charges against them were dismissed with the consent of the prosecution.

Chief of DeKalb Police Parker and John Hudson, assistant solicitor of Fulton county, who is directing the prosecution for Solicitor-General Claude Smith, of the Stone Mountain circuit, on Thursday afternoon petitioned Judge James C. Davis, of DeKalb superior court, to reset the bonds of Mrs. Alling and Yagot at $5,000 each.

TWO LAUNCH FIRE ON AIR MAIL SETUP

Doe and MacCracken Are Outspoken in Criticism of Present Program.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Asserting that present air mail contracts are inadequate to sustain existing air transport lines for more than a few months before the industry will be exhausted, Captain Thomas B. Doe, former president of Eastern Air Transport, Inc., today told the House aviation committee all operating lines will be bankrupt not later than June 30, 1935, unless more liberal government treatment is forthcoming.

"This means not only a loss to the stockholders," he said, "but also a destruction of the assets that government aid has helped these companies to build up. One of several witnesses heard by the committee today, Captain Doe, now vice president of Sperry Corporation, declared that aviation industry is being hampered by buck passing and departmental jealousies arising from government regulatory authority being scattered over several different departments."

"The present air mail program is not only holding back the growth of a potentially great industry but is costing the government and the taxpayers much more than it would if these functions were concentrated in the hands of a competent agency."

Changeable Policies.
"Today we have the postoffice dealing with air mail contracts, which are subjected to new policies every time we have a new postmaster-general. We have the department of commerce regulating operations, telling us what kind of equipment we can fly, laying out airways over which we shall operate, and making rules and regulations for licenses and personnel. We have the national recovery administration and the air transport code setting up conditions under which we shall operate, even to the wages and hours of our personnel and the interstate commerce commission charged by law with the duties of rate making."

Disclaiming any intention of criticizing "this scattered government control," the witness said it was merely "a perfect example of the effect of too many cooks in the kitchen. The government has not received its money's worth at all times, he said, it was 'largely because of its own errors,' adding:

"Some lines have been operated with government support, largely for political reasons. Inadequate, obsolete equipment has been made between a slow, single-engine plane, written

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salts

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of torturing Piles, it's because you haven't heard of Hem-Roid, the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician.

After years of study Dr. J. S. Leonard was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

Pile sufferers everywhere are benefiting by Dr. Leonard's discovery, so why doubt or delay longer when Jacobs drug stores and all druggists say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets will show you the safe clean way to get rid of your pile misery or money back." —(adv.)

Quarters in Bottles May Balk 'Leggers'

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—(P)—This inventor has an idea for preventing bootleggers from refilling good bottles. It is a bottle with a 25-cent piece embedded in the glass. The purchaser would be charged for it, and to smash the bottle he'd have to smash the bottle when it was empty.

The inventor is J. M. Braude, associate director of the Illinois state department of finance. He told about it today to the national conference of wholesalers here.

Unified Rule Urged

Replying to questions propounded by the chairman of the commission, Clark Howell, Atlanta publisher, Captain Doe said these conditions could be remedied by the setting up of a permanent federal aviation body which would consolidate all government functions relating to civil aviation.

"The highly technical nature of aeronautical developments," he continued, "the rapid changes taking place, the necessity for good judgment, based on knowledge in making decisions, and above all, the necessity for intelligent handling of government control and aid all emphasize the desirability of having all government functions placed in the hands of one agency reporting directly to the president."

Possibilities of the development of an aviation industry doing a business of a billion dollars annually were suggested by the witness. He said that the government would take out of politics its share of management and support of the industry, putting it in the hands of a permanent commission and restoring public confidence now lacking.

MacCracken Testifies

Voicing similar criticism of the present system of air mail contracts, William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics, also urged the concentration of all government civil aviation functions in a single agency. He disagreed with a previous witness, Carleton Putnam, of Memphis, Tenn., president of the Pacific Seaboard Airline, who favored placing control over air regulation in the interstate commerce commission.

"As the railroad transportation more than any other single agency," said Mr. MacCracken, "it is quite natural to turn to their experience and suggest that the rate making power be placed in a bi-partisan commission. The next question arises 'should it be the same commission that fixes the rates for the railroads or should there be a separate aviation commission?' In my opinion the interstate commerce commission has plenty to do in its own field. The air and rail problems are entirely different. I would, therefore, suggest that the jurisdiction be vested in a permanent bi-partisan commission."

Established Carriers

Touching on the recent postoffice air mail contract cancellation order, Mr. MacCracken said, "It is generally agreed that it is not in the interest of a sound air transportation policy to require the contractor to bid periodically for the right to carry mail over a route which it has pioneered, and on which it has developed passenger and express traffic, and along which it has established repair bases and other ground facilities."

Every air mail contractor and scheduled operator who has flown a route for six months prior to the passage of the new act should be entitled to receive a certificate of convenience and necessity to carry mail at rates fixed by the proposed commission, he declared.

The witness opposed the creation of a new department of aeronautics which would have jurisdiction over both military and civil aeronautics. William B. Stout, head of the Stout Engineering Laboratories of Detroit, urged that all government research in the development of new scientific aviation devices be co-ordinated as an aid to the industry. He also recommended that a system of prize awards be sponsored by the government for stimulating new aircraft designs.

"Airgram" Rate Proposed

Both Captain Doe and a subsequent witness, A. L. Rushton, president of Rapid Air Lines, operating between Omaha and Kansas City, urged revision of present regulations to permit the sending of single sheet letters through air mail at greatly reduced rates. The single sheet letter, described as "airgrams," would result in a tremendous increase in both the volume and revenue of air mail, they testified, proposing also that postcards be sold air mail stamps at 2 cents each. The proposed "airgram" stamps would sell for 3 or 4 cents, contrasted with the present rate of 6 cents.

"Surveys I have made," said Mr. Rushton, "convince me beyond doubt that a very substantial increase in the volume of air mail would result from the use of airgram stamps for single sheet letters costing the sender no more than 4 cents."

Other witnesses heard during the day included J. P. Ringley, voting trustee for United Air Lines stockholders and a member of the New York investment firm of Brown, Harriman, Company, and John Geisse, of the bureau of air commerce of the department of commerce.

SUBSIDIES TO OPERATORS OF FOREIGN SHIPS SCORED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(P)—Testimony was presented to postoffice department investigators today that the United Fruit Company, which holds ocean mail subsidies that will amount to $20,000,000 over a 10-year period, operates 64 of its 95 vessels under foreign flags.

Karl A. Crowley, postoffice department solicitor, questioned the wisdom of the government subsidizing a company which operates a majority of its vessels under foreign registry which would permit their use against the United States in time of war.

C. D. Dowell, vice president of the line, told of the number of ships operating under foreign flags. He said 35 of the 64 flew the British union jack.

"I want to know," Crowley said, "if there is any reason why we should give subsidies to a company which has ships that could be used against this country in time of war."

"You are not paying a subsidy to the British ships," Dowell countered. "No," rejoined Crowley, "but we are paying a subsidy to the United Fruit Company."

15 AGNES SCOTT GIRLS

GET Y. W. C. A. HONOR

Fifteen Agnes Scott girls were elected to the freshman cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. it was announced Wednesday by Caroline Dickson, vice president of the association. The girls receiving the honor are Jean Barry Adams, Elizabeth Blackshear, Beth Bowden, Jean Chalmers, Laura Colt, Elizabeth Cousins, Anne Worthy Johnson, Winifred Kellersberger, Eliza King, Martha Long, Ellen McCallie, Mary Past, Ann Thompson, Jane Turner and Zoe Wells.

The freshman class is divided into 15 groups, and it is the purpose of the cabinet to have each member lead one of these. Each is expected to see that her group goes to chapel and tries out for the various clubs to which they are eligible, helping in any way they can with their lives on the campus.

Old Sol and Jupiter Pluvius Hold Reins in "Tomato Classic"

CAMBRIDGE, Md., October 18.—When the torrid and the bare ran their allegorical race, fans on the mythical sidelines perhaps little suspected that a thrilling counterpart would be reproduced in the 20th century between Old Sol and Jupiter Pluvius, with streamlined motor cars, tomatoes and Chesapeake bay terrapin as central figures in the modern version of this memorable speed classic.

It all started early last summer down in Dorchester county on the eastern shore of Maryland, next to the largest tomato producing area in the world.

Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board of Chrysler corporation, owns a palatial country estate near here. Colonel Albanus Phillips is president of the Phillips Packing Company, canner of "Phillips Delicious" soups and vegetables. As veteran sportsmen, with extensive game preserves in the famed Chesapeake bay wild fowl country, they frequently meet and exchange experiences.

During the course of one of these friendly confabs, the world famous motor magnate told Colonel Phillips of his plans to crash the exclusive portals of the official Maryland Ten-Ton Tomato Club. This, incidentally, is one of the most highly prized honors within the grasp of both "gentlemen" and "dirt" farmers in the Old Line state. And each year hundreds of tomato producers compete for prizes offered by the Maryland extension service, a unit of the United States department of agriculture.

The definite requirement is the officially authenticated production of not less than 10 tons of marketable tomatoes per acre.

Immediately interested in Mr. Chrysler's ambition to become a Ten-Ton Club member, Colonel Phillips offered to entertain the motor manufacturer at a diamond-back terrapin dinner if he succeeded. And not to be outdone in sportsmanship, Mr. Chrysler with equal promptness, agreed to entertain Colonel Phillips and his associates if he failed.

And then the race, which now is attracting nation-wide attention, began.

County Agent William R. McKnight, of Dorchester county, took surveys off a ten-acre tract. The finest and most sturdy plants were set. And during the long, warm days of early summer they grew strong and luxuriant, until this week County Agent McKnight announced that latest tabulation showed Mr. Chrysler's production had reached nine tons per acre. At least two more weeks remain. And it may be easily possible for his plans to crash the exclusive portals of the official Maryland Ten-Ton Tomato Club.

It all depends upon Old Sol and Jupiter Pluvius.

Fair skies or storm-tossed clouds will tell the story between now and the time frost falls.

If there are warm days with smiling suns, the producer of streamlined automobiles will probably win and dine on Chesapeake diamond-backs as the guest of Colonel Phillips.

Garner 'Gets Out of Trip' To Talk With Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(P)—Vice President John N. Garner has succeeded in avoiding a trip to Washington to visit President Roosevelt and discuss the political situation.

Garner sent word from his Uvalde, Texas, home, that it looked like everything was going democratic in November and a trip to Washington would be unnecessary. Garner was invited by the President to be his guest at the White House September 22. The Texan said if the "president didn't mind" he would "just as soon" stay at Uvalde hunting and fishing until congress meets January 3.

Today Garner let friends in Washington know that "the president let me off."

EXPERTS MAY SPEAK FOR TEXTILE UNION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(P)—Francis J. Gorman, organization director of the United Textile Workers, said today the union might forego its right to place workers on assignment boards to regulate machine loads in the textile industry, and recommend instead appointment of technical experts as its representatives.

Slightly Cooler Today Forecast for Atlanta

Continued partly cloudy weather today is expected to bring a slight drop in temperature, according to Forecaster George W. Mindling. The rain which was expected late Thursday afternoon or night was prevented by a shift of the rain center to the north, caused by high wind currents.

Thursday's temperatures ranged between 54 degrees low and 76 degrees high, while today's extremes are expected to be about 50 and 72 degrees, the report stated.

Tuesday by the president, the union may select one representative for each of the three-man boards to be named by the textile labor relations board to study the machine load, or stretch-out problems for the cotton textile, silk and woolen and worsted industries.

FLORIDANAGAIN HEADS STATE FORESTERS' BODY

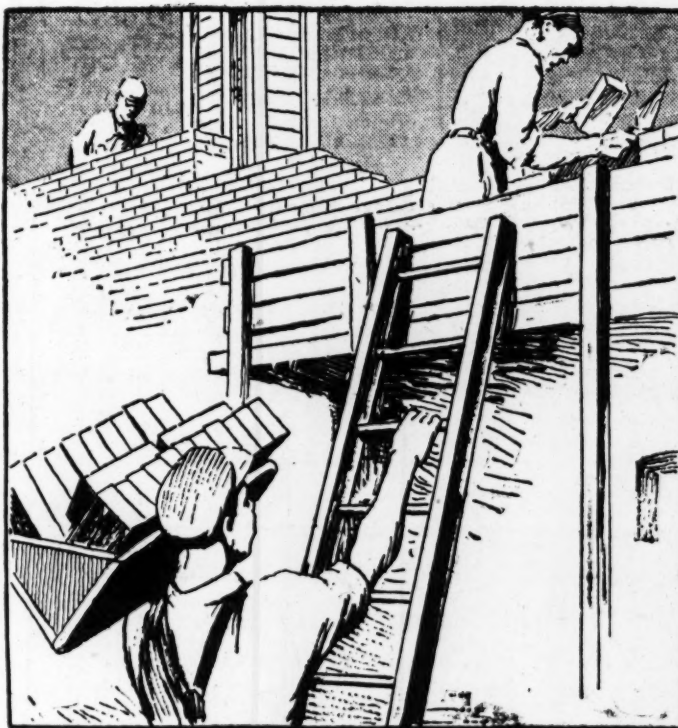

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—(P)—Harry Lee Baker, of Tallahassee, Fla., state forester of Florida, will serve another term as head of the American Association of State Foresters.

Baker was re-elected at the end of the associations convention here yesterday.

The "Stretch-out" ... what is it?

If the brick mason had to carry all of his own brick, he would be able to do less work in a day's time. Therefore, he has a hod carrier to bring him the brick.

If the weaver had to do every operation in connection with weaving, he could look after only a very few looms. Therefore, a helper is assigned to the simple job of supplying yarn.

THE term "stretch-out" is applied to the separation of work requiring skill from that which can be done by anyone assigned to the job. The pictures above give a clear example.

The work-load of an employee is determined not by the number of machines he runs, but by the amount of work and effort required to keep them running.

Figures of the Department of Labor and the Department of Commerce show there has been practically no increase in production per man per hour in the Textile Industry since the Code went into effect with increased wages per man per hour. The number of employees has not been decreased, although some work has been divided between the skilled and unskilled workers.

THE LAUGHING GIRL MYSTERY

By Viola Paradise

WHAT WAS DONE BEFORE: At Sheridan Danard is hurrying up the stairs to the New York studio apartment of his fiancée, Adelaide Sayre, a girl who is laughing in a way that is short in the ground-floor apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Coggs, who own the building. While the girl is found dead from a stab wound in their room. When Sheridan hears the laughter he remarks to Oswald, the colored superintendent, that the girl is a blond with laughing eyes and a short upper lip. This is an exact description but before the discovery of the murder and in the presence of Adelaide and Lester Wilcox, but Sheridan laughingly says it is easy for an archaeologist to reconstruct a girl from her laugh. Both Sheridan and Wilcox are connected with the private museum of Dr. Coggs, Egyptologist. Police Inspector Higgins demands that Danard tell who the girl is. After the murder a beggar holds Danard up, knocks him out, and slaps him, but misses him. An Egyptian statue, taken from Danard's desk, had been used as a door knocker to hide a newly-bored peep-hole in the Coggs' hall door. A Florentine dagger is missed from the museum and Martin, the English caretaker, disappears. Mrs. Coggs mysteriously on her desk. Assistant District Attorney Alby learns that a trunk was sent to a check room, and that the trunk contained a sack of letters from it before disappearing. Alby questions Wilcox. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

“Then I hurried downstairs to tell Steng. I think I saw something queer about his Dennis. But there he was himself, Swift. I mean, tossing his key on the desk and walking out the hotel fast.”

“Did you notice which way Swift went, Joe?” Alby asked Timmott.

“Yes, I run after him and said, ‘Taxi,’ Mr. Swift, and he gives a sort of grunt, and then a taxi drives up. And he says, ‘Sixty-six East 63d street and be quick about it.’”

“But that’s our house,” exclaimed Mrs. Coggs. “Willard, did you hear—the museum number?”

Dr. Coggs was looking fixedly at Joe now, but he said nothing.

“That’s all there is, Mr. Alby. Except what I says to Mr. Steng.”

“What was that?”

“I says, ‘Listen, Mr. Steng. I tell you 315 is a bad actor. And I tell him about the lady’s stuff sticking out of the trunk and the letters. And I says, ‘Another funny thing, Mr. Steng, the way he was his hat down over his eyes.’”

“And that was all the conversation you had with Mr. Steng?”

“Yes, sir. Until today when I come on duty. Then Mr. Steng says to me, ‘Maybe you’re right, Joe, about 315. His bed wasn’t slept in last night.’ And before I could answer, sizzling went the phone, and somebody was asking about that trunk check. And when Mr. Steng told me, I says, ‘I bet it’s murder. Only I didn’t think had anything to do with the girl that died laughing.’”

“And now you think it has?” asked Alby.

“Well, here I am, and here’s all these folks, and the address Dennis Swift gave on Sixty-third street like the lady said—” Joe nodded to Mrs. Coggs.

“How long was it from the time Dennis Swift entered the hotel till he left?” Alby asked.

“About ten minutes. Not more’n 15 anyhow.”

Alby cleared his throat. “Joe,” he said slowly, “I want you to tell us if there is anyone in this room who looks like Dennis Swift?”

Joe, who had been talking fluently and easily up to this time, hesitated. “Well,” he said after a pause, “Yes. There is.”

Every one leaned forward eagerly, except Dr. Coggs.

“Which one is it, Joe?” Alby demanded.

Joe shook his head. “But it ain’t him. There’s some one here might be his twin brother, except for two things.”

“Which one is it?” Alby repeated.

“Only it isn’t,” Joe insisted. His height ain’t right, and then the scratch on his hand—”

“His hand?” exclaimed Mr. Coggs, rising to his feet and wheeling about so that he faced Sheridan. “You! You!” His voice was almost a scream. “Now I’ve got it! Now I know where I saw you! That gas inspector. Tuesday. I knew there was something queer about him. You’re the gas inspector—”

All eyes were now on Sheridan, standing pale and astonished. But his voice was steady. “You are mistaken,” he said gravely.

“No, no, I swear it! The minute I saw you last night I knew I’d seen you before. Mamma, you saw him. Look at him!” He was dressed differently, and there was a scratch on his hand then, and his hands were dirty. But look at the shape of his hands—”

Mrs. Coggs who had been peering up at Sheridan’s face, and then down at his hands, and then up at his face again, turned to her husband and moved her head slowly up and down in agreement.

After a painful silence, Sheridan spoke. “We must find the man who’s been impersonating me.” He turned to Mr. Coggs. “That gas inspector? Exactly what did he look like, and exactly what did he say?”

Mr. Coggs, his excitement only slightly abated, turned angrily to Alby. “First of all, I ever heard of a murderer allowed to do the cross-questioning.”

“We’ve found the murderer yet,” said Alby. “Only a resemblance in the shape of what I saw two pairs of hands. Sit down, everybody.”

“It’s not only the hands,” Coggs insisted. “They just put me on the right track. It’s the rest of him, too. Because the gas inspector—I mean him when he was acting as gas inspector—had soiled workman’s clothes on, and smudges on his face. And his hands were dirty—black under the nails, and on the knuckles. I never thought of his hands till that boy there—” Mr. Coggs broke off and looked from Alby to Joe and back to Sheridan. “Funny,” he said to Alby. “I thought there was something queer about the gas inspector at the time.”

“What was queer about him?” Alby asked.

“Well, I’ve owned houses for years in New York and no inspector before ever had to go through all the apartments. I told him so. He said all he knew was he had his orders and showed his badge. And he lighted and turned off every even and every burner in one hour.”

“What was peculiar about that?” Alby asked.

“The subway way he did it was peculiar. He seemed to look around everywhere, not only at the gas fixtures.”

“And you are willing to swear in court that Mr. Danard here was the gas inspector?” demanded Alby.

“I’d stake my life on it.”

Adelaide dashed across to Sheridan. She trembled as she clung to him. He said to her, in a low voice, “It will come out all right, darling. Don’t you see, if some one is palming himself off as me, it’ll make the solution all the easier? He’s bound to slip up.”

“Yes,” Coggs repeated. “That’s him. I’d stake my life on it.”

“Well, I wouldn’t,” Joe Timmott spoke up warmly. “In fact, I’ll bet you 10 to 1 it wasn’t. My dime to your dollar.” He put his hand into his pocket and fished out a dime. “How about it, mister? We’ll let the detective here hold the stakes. Anybody else want to bet?”

Alby said severely, “This is no time for clowning, Joe.”

The district attorney picked up the telephone and gave an order. Then Stevens spoke. “All the same, footprints or no footprints, he couldn’t have done it. I was looking right at him when the bell rang. He could not have got down off the roof, removed shoes, stockings, and all traces of roof dust, and got back into bed, in the two minutes between the falling of the slipper and the ringing of the bell.”

A man had come in not only with the slippers, but with an afternoon paper. The commissioner and the D. A. exclaimed at the scare headlines, but Alby bent his entire attention upon the slippers.

“You can put those away, Alby,” said the commissioner presently. “We’ve no choice now but to arrest Danard. Read this.”

Alby took the paper and read the headlines:

“Murder of Adelaide Sayre attempted—clue links attack to murder of girl who died laughing—slipper identified as Danard’s—no arrest yet.”

Reading on, Alby found this paragraph:

“A red slipper found by police a few minutes after an attempt to murder Miss Adelaide Sayre proved to be the mate of another red slipper discovered near the bed of Sheridan Danard, archaeologist, who was sleeping in an adjoining apartment on the same floor. Stockinged footprints on the roof led from just above the fire escape upon which Danard’s room opened, to the front of the roof just above Miss Sayre’s room.”

“Guess there’s nothing to do, A. A.,” the district attorney said, “but collar Danard.”

“What’s the use of arresting one man?” Alby said quietly. “This is a two-man murder. Hold off just till we get answers to our cables to Scotland Yard.”

“I don’t quite get you, Alby,” said the district attorney. “What’s up your sleeve?”

“The first place,” said Alby quietly, “Danard was not the man on the roof.”

“How do you know he wasn’t?”

“I’ve seen any more proof than Joe Timmott provided last night, the tar in the slippers provide it. Oswald said the roof was tarred last week. This is March and a chilly March at that. The tar couldn’t soften enough to stick to the shoe—of its own accord.”

Higgins scowled.

“What’s more,” Alby continued, “there was a speck of tar on the inside of each slipper, as well as the outside. Look, in this one it’s on the inner sole, and here’s a slipper—or you might say a stocking—on the lining. In this one it’s in the lining above the big toe. You don’t step in tar in stocking feet and then get the top lining of your slippers sticky with it. That tar was heated on purpose. Heated for the purpose of making something sticky enough to wrangle those slippers from Danard’s bedside.”

“Go on!” Higgins’ tone was half exclamatory, half derogatory.

“The man who attacked Miss Sayre,” Alby continued, “was a chance to blame the attack on Danard, already under a cloud. This last bit of evidence, Alby’s voice put the word in the quotation marks, would be sufficient to add to what we’ve got, to insure his conviction of murder.”

“What mean,” the police commissioner asked slowly, “that Danard’s com-murderer—shall we say?—wants the whole blame put on him? You mean that Martin—”

NAZI CHURCHMEN FACE NEW THREAT

Mueller and Jaeger in Peril of Overthrow as Revolt Spreads.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel like a whipped tomato. It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every 42 minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (that we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills, which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a colored (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many places. The three—Chief Church Councillor Birnbaum and Pastors Langmann and Christiansen—withdraw their resignations and have submitted, and Jaeger canceled the dismissals with which he countered.

After the conciliatory action on both sides, the three churchmen returned to the church council.

Revolt, spreading to the ranks of Nazi churchmen themselves, appeared to threaten the rule of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller and Jaeger.

Kinder expressed lack of confidence in Dr. Jaeger, Prussian commissioner for Protestant churches, after protesting personally to the Reichsbishop and attorney, Christian Kinder.

He is supported by the most powerful Nazi Bishop Friedrich Koch, of Saxony, and Karl Thom, of Pomerania.

The Reichsbishop supreme council has not escaped the rebellious spirit. Pastors Christiansen and Langmann and Chief Church Councillor Birnbaum demanded Jaeger's resignation.

The commission responded by dismissing them from office. Rev. Fritz Engelke thereupon presented his resignation.

Engelke is director of the Hamburg Mission house. He has been the Lutheran representative on Mueller's spiritual cabinet since February 23.

Hitler was reported to be so disappointed in Mueller that he canceled an audience which had been arranged for tomorrow.

Former Auburn Star Charged With Fraud

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Charged with using the mails to defraud, Willis (Pip) Phipps, former Alabama Polytechnic Institute football star, was under two years' probation tonight following a hearing today in United States district court here.

Jointly with Phipps and also named as conspirators in the alleged fraud were Beland L. Stone, also of Mobile; Martin B. Johnson and Richard H. Cassidy. Stone was arrested by federal agents in Birmingham and allowed to post his own bond.

The defendants, the government charges, devised a scheme in which they claimed they could secure positions for college students at the Chicago World's Fair. They formed a bureau known as the "World's Fair Placement Bureau." It was charged.

Phipps was a halfback on Auburn's undefeated 1932 team and was again a regular last year.

150 Funmakers With Circus From All Parts of World

There are clowns, and there are clowns. Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. This is merely another way of stating that the greatest show on earth, coming to Atlanta on October 24, searches everywhere in every land for the best of the white-faced funmakers. Hence, there are many foreign "Joys" in the big show's clown alley, for now that the talking pictures have taken over the movie game, the circus is the only spot where a man's alien tongue does not matter. Pantomime levels all barriers.

There are 150 Merry Andrews of all nations with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey combined circus, although nearly half of them are American citizens or they have been in this country since childhood. There are 40 producing clowns among them; that is, funsters, who build their own gags, equip them and engage other clowns, if needed, to aid them in putting across their laugh-skits in the seven rings and stages of the hippodrome track. There are also 20 clowns who work in the aerial rigging.

When one figures that there are more than 800 performers with the show, the number of clowns does not seem out of proportion, but, if it were, it would be better. There can never be too many.

Presenting more new worldwide features than ever before, the great combined circus will give performances at 2 and 8 p. m., the doors opening an hour earlier in each instance to permit leisurely inspection of the mammoth menagerie.

southeastern area, the southeastern development board was organized with the object of stimulating the practical development of the region, industrially and otherwise.

Suggestions had been made that the president go to Atlanta to address the opening of the meeting, but he preferred to confer with the governors of the several states at Warm Springs.

F. D. R. WILL DEDICATE VETS' HOSPITAL TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will seek to reassure tomorrow thousands of needy veterans of America's wars, delivering a message to this effect at the dedication of a $1,700,000 soldier hospital at Roanoke, Va.

Spending much of his own day today in work on the address, the president sought to complete it tonight, prior to departing for the south in the morning. The journey will be extended to keep the executive out of the capital until late Sunday.

Since his words tomorrow precede but a little the American Legion convention at Miami next week, some speculation had it that Mr. Roosevelt would touch on the bonus issue. There was a general feeling, however, that he would not mention it, at least by name, and that the address would be both brief and general in nature.

Generous Attitude.
Ever since he took office, aids declare that the chief executive has maintained a generous attitude toward veterans injured in actual combat and a less liberal policy toward those who could not trace their diseases and injuries to war duty. He already has promised that distressed veterans and their families would be assisted in every way possible along with the needy in urban, farm and mountain centers.

In the last session of congress his veterans' policy was overruled to the extent of putting back on the pension and compensation thousands of World and Spanish War veterans whose presumptive service-connected disabilities had been disallowed under the economy act.

Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, who went over final arrangements for the president's trip to the White House today, has estimated that an additional $104,000,000 would be required to pay the expanded pension bill voted over the president's veto.

Conservative Budget.
He said on leaving the executive mansion that his budget for the remainder of this fiscal year and next year would be "conservative," but that the aggregate would depend to some extent on the attitude of the budget bureau toward the sinking fund for the adjusted service (bonus) certificates.

The average bonus certificate, payable in full in 1945, runs for $1,100, with a maximum of $1,500, but 2,887,424 out of a total of 3,720,631 certificates have been pledged for loans to veterans. The fact valued all certificates at maturity is $3,074,284,467, but there is an outstanding indebtedness on account of loans of $1,024,711,474.

Accompanied by the veterans' administrator and Mrs. Hines and Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, the president will leave by special train tomorrow forenoon for Roanoke, where he will dedicate the first veterans' hospital constructed in his administration.

VETERANS AWAITING ROOSEVELT'S ADDRESS
MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18.—(UP)—Hundreds of war veterans, gathered here for the American Legion national convention, tonight eagerly awaited President Roosevelt's address tomorrow afternoon at Roanoke, Va.

Legionnaires expect the president to discuss immediate payment of the bonus in his twilight address dedicating a new veterans' hospital.

Dispatches from Washington, however, indicated Mr. Roosevelt will not mention the controversial subject in his Virginia address.

Reports that President Roosevelt will reveal his stand on the bonus at Roanoke three days before the national convention gained wide circulation among legionnaires when National Commander Edward A. Hayes said it was his "understanding" that the chief executive will stay silent on the Miami convention. When the convention opens Monday, one-third of the voting strength will be pledged to demand immediate payment of adjusted service certificates.

ELDER ROBINSON SEEKS $25,000 BOND

told the commissioner, "Your honor, the defendant wants to call an attorney." He was granted time to do so.

Gil Lackey, attorney, who has been closely associated with Robinson recently, was not called as counsel, court attaches said, because he is insisting for the government that Robinson's removal to Louisville.

Ross, who said he had had no previous connection with the case, conferred briefly with Robinson. Then the court asked the nature of his pleading.

"I'll plead not guilty as to Mr. T. H. Robinson Sr.," he said.

Asked about bond, he said that "there's been no arrangement about making bond."

Frierson said he had a letter from the district attorney at Louisville recommending bond of $50,000. "I'm insisting for the government that the bond be set at that amount," he said.

Bond Set at $25,000.
Ross said he would not resist fixing bond at $25,000 for Robinson. He said Campbell asked whether so large a bond could be made by Robinson, the defendant, with a nod of his head, indicated it could not. Bond was then fixed at $25,000.

Ross insisted on a hearing on whether Robinson should be removed to Louisville. The date was fixed as Friday, October 26, by Commissioner Campbell. The hearing, Ross said, later, may go into the merits of the charges against Robinson, since the government, he declared, would not show prima facie evidence of cause for his removal, and the defense may, if it wishes, challenge this evidence.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Ross told the Associated Press that "I don't know anything at all about the case other than what has appeared in the papers and rumors that have been going around since the morning Tom Robinson told me he had lent every assistance to the Stoll family."

"I was only called a short time ago, he continued, and I don't know anything on earth about it."

Interviews Barred.
H. H. Clegg, inspector of the division of investigation from Washington, said minutes at her home and left his automobile and suitcase there was Robinson.

Following the hearing he left the federal building company of Ring, who had been asked to arrange an interview. After talking with Robinson, he would not grant it. The two went to the hotel where the elderly man had been held to get clothing he had there.

"Mr. Robinson will go home," Ross said, but first he may have a conference with a newspaper reporter.

Many developments in the Stoll case, which newspaper readers all over the country have been informed about, including the way progress in his son, were possibly unknown to Robinson until after his release.

He was overheard to tell one of the men signing his bond that he had not read a newspaper for several days.

The behind-the-scenes story on the maneuvers that led to payment of the $50,000 ransom for the safe return of Mrs. Stoll's son, was told by Robinson.

In it was revealed that letters from the "kidnapers" and from Mrs. Stoll herself, sent together by special delivery mail to the service, were received Sunday and turned over to the department of justice immediately by Robinson and District Attorney General Lister.

The "kidnapers" he signed himself, outlined a plan for paying the $50,000 ransom to "your daughter-in-law," who is Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson Jr., wife of the charged with the crime. Both Robinson Sr. and Mrs. Robinson Jr. are under charges in connection with the kidnapping.

Mrs. Stoll's letter, to which was attached her wedding ring as proof of the communication's genuineness, was addressed to "Dear Mr. Intermediary" and urged him to "pay over the money to the one who this man tells you to." It was written in long-hand, while the other was neatly typed and warned that "Mrs. Stoll will never be seen alive" unless the instructions for handling the ransom money were carried out.

A close adviser of the Robinson family told the Associated Press today that the elder Robinson had been convinced as early as Saturday that his son was the kidnaper and had said he was going to do everything within his power to effect Mrs. Stoll's safe release and the capture and imprisonment of his son.

Previous Scrape.
Young Robinson was in trouble last April, when he was charged with having robbed a girl of jewelry while motoring with her.

At that time the family adviser said, Robinson Sr. was told by his son's attorney that if the youth was guilty of the offense he ought to be imprisoned in some institution.

"You're right," Robinson Sr. was quoted as having said at that time. "If he committed this offense he is a menace to society and ought to be incarcerated in some institution."

But Robinson Jr. was freed of the charge. Nevertheless, the adviser said, his father continued his investigation to determine in his own mind whether the son was guilty, but from came to the conclusion he was not.

TRAIL OF ROBINSON IS LEFT IN OHIO

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18.—(AP)—One definite trace of the trail left by the discharged lunatic sought as the kidnaper of Alice Speed Stoll was found today in Springfield, Ohio, and countless clues continued to pour in from other parts of a nation aroused to the great manhunt.

The car in which Thomas H. Robinson Jr., the man sought, fled from an Indianapolis apartment, where Mrs. Stoll was held a prisoner for six days, was found abandoned in Springfield. A $5 bill given to a rooming house-keeper where he is believed to have stayed Tuesday only long enough to shove was turned over to police. Three people reported they saw a man there this morning they thought was Robinson.

Luck Held.
The remarkable luck that attended the abduction from the start continued for the time. It kept him from having to return to Louisville to face the government charges in person. It kept him from the electric chair. Three or four times before Mrs. Stoll was released federal agents missed catching him by minutes. They were content such luck could not continue.

As the relentless hunt by federal, state and city forces methodically went on, a special grand jury was ordered to meet Saturday to indict Robinson, his young wife and his father, Thomas Henry Robinson Sr. All three were named late yesterday in a warrant charging kidnapping and conspiracy to kidnap the young society woman here October 10.

Father Arrested.
The elder Robinson was arrested in Nashville on the federal warrant in line with the determination expressed by department of justice investigators to prosecute all three.

Mrs. Frances Robinson, in jail here in default of $50,000 bond, pleaded for release today and sent Mr. Huggins, a leading criminal lawyer, gave her his services. He said that for "old times sake" he also would defend the elder Robinson, with whom he went to school in Nashville as a boy.

"I will not defend young Robinson, though, if he is caught," the attorney added.

Huggins, after a talk with his client, who had spent an almost sleepless night in jail, declared she was "absolutely in the clear," and that he would seek to have her bail reduced to "about $5,000."

Police went into action at Peoria, Canton and Chicago, Ill., and Jefferson City, Mo., on receipt of reports that a man resembling Robinson had been seen from Paducah, Ky., came word that bank notes believed to be those among the ransom money had been found, but these bills, like those in numerous other cities, were said by federal authorities not to be the ones.

Two Bandits Fooled By Intended Victim

Two white bandits were badly fooled Thursday night by their intended victim.

E. E. Prince, of 450 West Peachtree street, told police two white men, one of them armed with a pistol, held him up at Washington and Bass streets Thursday night and demanded his money. Prince said he reached into his pocket and threw the robbers a purse. They turned and ran.

The purse, an old one, contained only one key which doesn't fit anything.

HUNT IS INTENSIFIED FOR KIDNAPER IN OHIO

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Search for the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll, of Louisville, was intensified today following the discovery of his abandoned automobile here.

Mrs. Edna Dearvester, rooming here, had a picture of Robinson, as the man who left the car in her garage. A $5 bill paid to her was found to be part of the ransom money. As three persons reported to Police Chief George Adele that they had seen Robinson in Springfield this morning, extra police were ordered out to check every rooming house in the city.

"I am positive Robinson still is in Springfield," Adele said.

Mrs. Dearvester's identification of her roomer was made from a police photograph, Adele said. She was positive the man who had stayed but a few minutes at her home and left his automobile and suitcase there was Robinson.

When I saw Robinson's picture in the newspaper this morning, I said that surely looks like the man who registered here Tuesday afternoon," Mrs. Dearvester said.

Part of ransom money. Mrs. Dearvester said the man registered as "Ben Doken, of South Bend, Ind." He paid her $11, including the $5 bill she deposited Wednesday, in a building and loan company which today was found to have been part of the Stoll ransom money.

Mrs. Dearvester said the man wore a derby and glasses and was about 6 feet tall.

The Robinson car was taken to a police garage where fingerprint experts are working on it for a clue to the steering wheel and one door.

A department of justice agent from Cincinnati was detailed here to aid local officials.

Although Chief Adele held to the belief Robinson still was in the city the story of the finding of his car here lent credence to a story of a Toledo taxi driver last night that a man answering Robinson's description rode to the Toledo union depot in his car Wednesday afternoon.

The finding of the car spurred city, state and county police throughout Ohio to hunt for Robinson.

ROBINSON BELIEVED SEEN IN TEXAS TOWN

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The department of justice office said today that a man who closely resembled Thomas H. Robinson Jr., sought as the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, of Louisville, had been seen in Denton this morning.

Denton officers reported that the man, accompanied by a blond woman, stopped briefly at a "trade-in" lot in an attempt to trade a car bearing a Georgia license but was unsuccessful and drove away quickly to the south.

CHEST'S RECORDS OF MENED LIVES SHOWS FUNDS' USE

Let the snow whirl in. Let's laugh at the old, old story which our melodramas made famous. "Oh, he ain't done right by Nell." Laugh about it. Here's the record. True, unembellished statements.

Midnight. A girl in tears, eighteen years of age. In her arms a baby eight months old. The mother was unmarried. The man had given her a little money. But it was gone.

It was cold that morning. No snow. It seldom snows in Atlanta. But there was a cold, raw wind. And it hit through the thin, threadbare coat which the young mother wore.

A great opportunity to laugh—break into the tune:

"Oh, he ain't done right by Nell, he ain't done right by Nell."
Tear up some paper and toss it out the door and say, "It ain't a fit night out for man or beast." W. C. Fields always gets a great laugh with that line.

She was hungry. She was cold. The baby was hungry. She was pitifully ignorant of what to do. Life had her, a big unseen thing which called her to be hungry and cold and desperate and made the terror come up in her throat.

The Salvation Army took her in. Community Chest funds helped care for the girl.

"I like to see where my money is going when I give it to charity."

Within two months the girl had a job. A year later she married. And she and her husband came and took the child.

Here there had been no Community Chest that cold midnight—Oh, well, forget it—toss out some paper snow. "It ain't a fit night out for man or beast." A girl's scream. Little Nell. "Oh, he ain't done right by Nell, he ain't done right by Nell."

Butler Is Witness For Mrs. Vanderbilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's first witness in the fight to retain custody of her 10-year-old daughter, Gloria, was heard today behind closed doors in the chambers of Supreme Court Justice John F. Carow.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's former butler, Herbert Wright, opened the case for the beautiful widow of Reginald Vanderbilt.

While the case of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who seeks custody of her niece, is not finished, the court allowed Wright to testify inasmuch as the press of personal affairs would prevent him from appearing later.

Thomas B. Gilchrist, co-guardian of little Gloria, was on the stand most of the afternoon. Tomorrow Mrs. Whitney is expected to testify against her sister-in-law.

Dollar Stabilization Sought by Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Chinese government today took steps to stabilize the Chinese dollar, after four days of wild fluctuations on the Shanghai market.

An "equalization committee" composed of four or five government officials and bankers will be named today or tomorrow, Minister of Finance H. H. Kung announced.

He declined to go into details as to the nature of its functions.

England-Australia Air Race Scheduled To Begin Today

MILDENHALL AIRDROME, England, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Crack fliers from both hemispheres settled tonight for their last complete rest before roaring away in Saturday's dawn for Melbourne in the world's longest air derby.

Weighting of all planes at the airdrome except the monoplane of Miss Jacqueline Cochran, of New York, has been completed. Officials will tackle that job tomorrow morning.

Colonel James C. Fitzmaurice's Irish Swoop passed the test successfully after a slight overload of gasoline and oil was adjusted.

As a result of a ballot for starting places, Amy Molison and her husband, J. A. Molison, will lead the take-offs, followed by Colonel Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, of the United States.

Miss Cochran is ninth. J. H. Wright, of Utica, N. Y., tenth, and the young Australian, C. J. Melrose, will leave the ground last.

The plane of Ken Waller, which suffered damage to the undercarriage and propeller during a heavy landing, was placed in the hands of a mechanic, who worked furiously to complete repairs.

With the entry of H. D. Gilman 21 planes are expected to face the starting flag.

Wright's saucy little blue ship took to the air late in the gray afternoon and cut fancy capers which gave a thrill to the Mildenhall villagers.

Officials said there is every prospect of a fast first lap when the pilots get under way.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Molison, Colonel Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, Colonel J. C. Fitzmaurice, E. R. Bonar, O. Catchart Jones and Ken Waller, D. L. Asjes and G. J. Geyssendorp, Captain T. Neville Stack and S. L. Turner, W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, Wesley Smith and Miss Jacqueline Cochran, John H. Wright and John Bolando, C. G. Davies and C. N. Hill, H. D. Gilman, J. Woods and D. C. Bennett, J. D. Hewett and C. D. Kay, R. Turner and G. E. Hemsworth, Lieutenant Malcolm MacGregor and Henry Walker, Lieutenant G. Shaw, Squadron Leader D. E. Stodart and K. G. Stodart, C. J. Melrose.

Because of Gilman's late arrival he will not be allowed to take part in the handicap race but the necessary tests for speed race qualifications are being rushed. Should he later be rejected, all competitors scheduled to take off after him will move up a notch.

LUTHERANS DEBATE CONTROL OF MONIES

Dr. Knobel Again Elected Head of Church at Savannah Convention.

ADDRESS OF LEADER TO BE HEARD TODAY

A nationwide Columbia network, including WGST, will carry a message from the National Lutheran convention, at Savannah, to the radio audience today, from 11:30 to 12 o'clock. Rev. F.
H. Knobel, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, will deliver an address, "Is the Church in the Dark?" while a mixed double quartet will contribute several hymns.

By ROBERT BUNELLE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 18.—(AP)—
A warm debate over whether the control of benevolent monies should continue to be vested with the individual synods or be centralized under the church proper, developed at the ninth biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America today and the matter was finally referred to a committee.

The question developed when the convention was called to act on a portion of the executive board report which suggested that money for home missions and educational work should be handled by the church and not by its divisions, the synods themselves, directly.

Leads Opposition.
Dr. J. A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College, at Allentown, Pa., led the opposition to the movement attempting to introduce a substitute proposal, which in turn drew fire from those favoring centralization of control. After lengthy debate the matter finally was referred to a committee of nine at the suggestion of several leaders, including members of the Ohio synod.
Earlier today, Dr. F. H. Knobel, of New York, president of the United Lutheran church since its formation in 1919, was re-elected for a two-year term on a first ballot. Dr. W. H.
Greener, of New York, was re-elected secretary and Dr. E. Clarence Miller, of Philadelphia, was re-elected treasurer.

Business sessions of the convention began this morning with Rev. E. B.
Keisler, of Newberry, S. C., conducting the devotional. Approximately 500 delegates were seated and nearly as many visitors were here for the meeting. Greetings were heard from Governor Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, and Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah. The response was made by Judge J. L. Almond, of Roanoke, Va.
The committee named to report on the question of control of benevolent monies included:

E. Clarence Miller, of Philadelphia, chairman; John L. Zimmerman, of Springfield, Ohio; Rev. S. W. Her-ger, of Lancaster, Pa.; Rev. T. O.
Posselt, of Albany, N. Y.; Rev. Franklin Fry, of Akron, Ohio; Dr. Haas;
Rev. Joseph Sittler, of Columbus, Ohio; Rev. J. J. Scherer, of Richmond, Va.; and Rev. A. E. Bell, of Toledo, Ohio.

Today's program concluded with a layman's dinner with William H. Hager, of Lancaster, Pa., as toastmaster and the following on the program for speeches: J. L. Clark, of Ashland, Ohio; S. Tellen, of New York; Dr.
R. E. Tuiles, president of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio.

Rinderknecht declared in his speech a belief that "it is time for another advance toward Lutheran unity."

RAILROAD REPORTS GAIN IN BUSINESS

G. S. & F. Line Sees More Improvement During Next Year.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 18.—(AP)—
"Some improvement over last year," with good indications of still further business increase during the next 12 months, were reported to stockholders and directors of the Georgia, Southern & Florida Railway Co., in their annual meetings today.

Stockholders of the company, which operates a line of the Southern Railway system from here into Florida, re-elected all old directors with the exception of H. W. Miller, of Washington, D. C., who died during the past year. His place was filled by E. E. Norris, also of Washington.
The directors re-elected the present state of officers, headed by President Fairfax Harrison, of Washington, and transacted other routine business.
The two meetings were held in the G. S. & F. building here.

Years and now stands at the threshold of its best era, was expressed today at the opening session by Knobel.
Without specific recommendations, the report made by the president involves about two basic ideas: That the trend of nations to accept dictatorial control has had its echo in the church in pressure from some quarters for "a more centralized authority" and that the Christian religion has as its mark unselfishness dealing with worldwide human needs.

He listed for aims as desirable improvements in his discussion "the development of a stronger spiritual life in the church; a stronger educational promotion throughout all parishes; a better adjustment of the work of the women's missionary society (as well as other auxiliary societies) to the work of the church as a whole."

The report took up various intra-church problems in detail but left action to the convention without recommendation from the president.

"The whole church, which belongs so definitely to the people," Dr. Knobel declared, "must become a more definite reality to our congregations."

CHIPLEY PAIR PLANS GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

CHIPLEY, Ga., Oct. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Floyd will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at their home at Shady Rest, near here, next Sunday afternoon with an open-house reception. This couple has lived in the same community the entire 50 years, are the parents of eight children, who with the 16 grandchildren and in-laws, complete the family of 32, all of whom are expected to attend the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd recall that they have lived through two wars, the Spanish-American and the World War and have witnessed seven financial panics, starting with the one in 1886 and including the present depression.
In addition to members of the family, numbers of friends of the couple are expected to attend the reception Sunday.

BURNS FATAL TO TOT AT SAVANNAH HOME

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 18.—The funeral of Julia Ophelia Snider, four years old, who was fatally burned while playing with matches, was held today.

The little girl, who lived at Port Wentworth, died a day after receiving the burns. She was playing with matches and caught fire. Her father burned his hands trying to put the

Providence Baptist church, near Alpharetta, Thursday celebrated its 100th anniversary, having been built in 1834. Upper picture shows the 75-year-old building erected on the site of the original log structure, with a portion of the 1,500 visitors who attended the exercises. Lower group includes, left to right: A. B. DeVore, clerk of the church, who succeeded his father in that office after he had served 45 years; C. N. Sutton, one of the oldest members of the church; Rev. G. R. Fraser, pastor; Mrs. W. H. Early, Mrs. J. W. Cowart and B. R. DeVore, pioneer members. Photo by Holloway.

By CLIFF FLIGG.
ALPHARETTA, Ga., Oct. 18.—The pages of history were turned back an even century as more than 1,500 persons gathered at the Providence Baptist church, five miles north of Alpharetta, Thursday to participate in the all-day ceremonies observing the 100th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Visitors were in attendance from all sections of the state to join in the ceremonies and to pay homage to the four white persons and two negroes who 100 years ago December 20 founded the church and set about erecting the first structure where they were to worship.

Came From Carolina.
When Joseph Walker and his young wife, Drucilla, came down from South Carolina more than 100 years ago they settled near the present site of the church. A mile or two to the northeast Abner Phillips and his wife, Nancy, also from South Carolina, settled. The evenings were long and not without their terrors. Indians, sometimes friendly, but often treacherous, infested the oak and pine forests of the rolling and fertile countryside.

As neighbors, the Walkers and the Phillips frequently visited each other.
In the evenings, in front of the open fireplaces, they would take turn-about reading from the Bible. When the visits were at the Phillips home, the Walkers' negro woman would accompany them to the Phillips home where another negro mammy would sit in and listen to the Bible reading and the religious discussions and join in the singing.

When fall came and the season's crops had been gathered, it was decided that a church should be established. Abner Phillips and Joseph Walker, with their broodless, cleaned a spot in a shady dell beneath large, spreading oak trees and there they constructed the first building to house the Providence Baptist church.

It was a small, one-story log affair and centered about a six-foot fireplace. The log cabin church served not only the Walkers, the Phillips and their two negro servants, but the members of the church, but new members who enrolled in the church as they migrated to the new settlement and began claiming the fertile acres of the new country.

The first structure served with adequacy the staunch, brave pioneers who settled in the community. Then it was necessary to build a new structure to house the growing congregation. It was then that the present church building was built.

During the past century, more than 1,200 persons have attended church at Providence Baptist. Numbered

SIX MEN QUESTIONED IN ROME MAN'S DEATH

READING, Pa., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Six men said by police to be known in Reading underworld circles were questioned by police last night in the slaying of Samuel W. Rheinhart, of Rome, Ga.

Rheinhart's body was found yesterday in a field near Kempton, bearing knife and bullet wounds. A Philadelphia dairyman made the discovery.
Police would not divulge the names of the men held in custody. Detectives Fred Marks said Rheinhart was the object of a police search at the time he apparently was "taken for a ride."

TENNILLE PAYS HONOR TO FORMER CITIZEN

TENNILLE, Ga., Oct. 18.—As a mark of respect to a former citizen all stores and places of business in Tennille were closed yesterday during the time that the train stopped here for the funeral of the late H. H.
Bashinski from Savannah, where he died suddenly Monday, to Macon for funeral and interment.

A large number of Tennille residents met the train to pay their silent tribute of respect.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages, watery amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and aches, rheumatic pains and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait.
Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

First Conference Site Marked by Methodists

ELBERTON, Ga., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A granite monument, marking the site of the first Methodist conference held in Georgia, was unveiled today with appropriate ceremonies attended by a crowd estimated by some at "almost a thousand."
Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, was the principal speaker, and said that the people of this section had been negligent in preserving "the wonderful history" of the area.
The monument stands on the spot on which once was the home of Judge Charles Tait.
A historical sketch was made by the Rev. Z. C. Hayes Jr., and deed to the property was made by Dr. C. C.
Jarrell, secretary of the Conference
Historical Society.

TEXTILE BOARD HEARS GEORGIA COMPLAINTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)— Complaints of discrimination against union members in re-employment of strikers in two Georgia cotton textile mills were filed with the newly-created textile labor relations board today by representatives of the United Textile Workers.

Accompanied by Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the committee which directed the textile strike in September,
C. M. Frazier, of Trion, and N. A.
Ayers, of Shannon, told officials of the board that hundreds of union members had been denied employment since the strike was terminated on September 22.

Frazier, president of the local union of the United Textile Workers at Trion, said that 250 members of the union had been denied re-employment by the Trion company. Ayers, president of the Shannon union, said the Southern-Brighton company had refused to take back 300 workers who participated in the strike.

Ayers said that in addition he told the board's representatives hundreds of others re-employed by the Southern-Brighton Company were given jobs under conditions less favorable than they enjoyed before the strike.
Charges of "frame-ups" were made by both men. Frazier said he had been arrested on a murder warrant at Shannon and that he was held in prison for 45 days. He said he was reduced to assault and battery, and kept in jail for two weeks while Ayers said he and 18 others were arrested at Shannon as the result of a telegram "planted" by a soldier of the Georgia national guard.

Ayers showed Executive Secretary Squires, of the textile labor board, and presenters a telegram signed "J. L.
Wheeler, manager of the Western Union" in Shannon, which said a telegram stating "We will get Captain William Knight—signed Ayers" was brought into the office by a soldier in uniform.

The union representatives said the arrest of Frazier and Ayers were typical of the tactics employed against us during our strike.

Miss Nancy Wallace Weds Blair Burks At Druid Hills Church

The wedding of Miss Nancy Carolyn Wallace and Blair Burks took place last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Druid Hills Baptist church, with Dr. Louis D. Newton officiating in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. White chrysanthemums were featured in the decoration of the church and white tapers in candelabra were interspersed among the palms, forming the background. Mrs. John Felder, church organist, was in charge of the musical program and Mrs. Roy Wallace, of Rutledge, sang.

The maid of honor, Miss Sara Martin of Washington, D. C., the matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Templeman, and the bridesmaids, Misses Martha McLendon, cousin of the bride; Mary Nell Garner, Wilfred Woodall, Elizabeth Burks, sister of the bridegroom; Harriet Camp and Sue Wallace, cousin of the bride, were gowned exactly alike in models of tropical blue velvet. They carried bouquets of hand-painted Easter lilies in delicate pink tones.

Mr. Burks and Eric Haley, as his best man, and the groomsmen included Milton Jones, Larry Campbell, Archie Backus, Roy Leonard, Charles Templeman and James Wallace Jr., brother of the bride. Little Miss Patricia Grizzard, who acted as flower girl, wore a frock of pink net posed over pink satin and carried a basket of flowers in pastel tints, while the ringbearer, Clark Walden, wore a pink satin suit.

Daughters of Confederacy Select Savannah As '35 Convention City

GRiffin, Ga., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy tonight selected Savannah for the 1935 convention.

Concluding its annual convention here the organization selected Mrs. Robert Walker, of Griffin, treasurer; Miss Mary Lizzie Smith, Elberton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. P. Smith, Decatur, registrar.

Mrs. T. W. Reed, president, and other officers were elected last year at Athens for a two-year period. Today's election was by a unanimous vote.

Resolutions adopted today included: To ask the Georgia legislature for $2,500 for furnishing the Liberty Hall home of Alexander Stevens.

To ask the legislature for $2,500 for a marker at Irwinville, where Jefferson Davis Memorial park is located.

To ask the legislature to admit widows of Confederate veterans, who are eligible for pensions, to the Old Soldiers' home.

To ask Miss Gay Shepperson, state relief administrator, to have federal work on Jefferson Davis Memorial park resumed.

Secretary instructed to telegraph President Franklin D. Roosevelt a message extending greetings and best wishes.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Elizabeth Folds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Folds, of West End, to Leonard Franklin Ellis, of Atlanta, was solemnized on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents at 988 Allene avenue.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben, pastor of Capitol View Methodist church, in the presence of relatives and friends.

Miss Anne Bell was the bride's only attendant. She wore a blue canon crepe gown, made on princess lines. Joe Adison was Mr. Ellis' best man.

The bride, who possesses brunette beauty, wore a becoming fall model of blue satin crepe trimmed with chiffon velvet yoke made in out-flower designs. Her corsage consisted of lilies of the valley.

Mr. Ellis is the son of Mrs. Bertha Ellis, of Atlanta. They are residing on Hightower road.

A large group of visitors will arrive to attend the Underwood-Poer wedding, on Saturday. Miss Katherine Field will arrive from Baltimore, Md., to visit Miss Underwood and to be among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding. Miss Frances Briggs, of South Boston, Pa., and Miss Rosalie Hooper, of Newport News, Va., will arrive Saturday, October 27, to visit Miss Florence Underwood at her home on Avery drive, and to attend the wedding. Misses Field, Briggs and Hooper were classmates of the bride-elect at Hollins College, Va.

Miss Josephine Polson Weds Marion Dodd at Baptist Church

First Baptist church on Peachtree street formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Nell Josephine Polson and Marion Randolph Dodd, which was solemnized on Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of an assemblage of relatives, friends and guests from a distance. Dr. Ellis A. Fuller and Dr. William H. Major performed the impressive marriage service.

Church Decorations.

Palms combined with white gladioli banded the altar and seven-branched cathedral candelabra held slender white tapers. Garlands of southern sunlax entwined the chancel railing and mounds of gladioli arose from palms placed on either side of the chancel. George L. Hambrick, organist, and Miss Helen Schaid, pianist, rendered a musical program, "Dawn," by Nevin; "Cavatina," by J. Raff, and "Romance," were played preceding the ceremony. William A. Huey sang "At Dawning" and "Because." During the wedding service "To a Wild Rose" was softly played. The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was rendered as the processional and the "Wedding March" as the recessional.

The groomsmen included Clarence G. Dodd, brother of the bridegroom; Charles O. Murphy, W. Holmes Langford, of Augusta, formerly of Atlanta, and Rufus M. Williams. The ushers were Robert J. Allen, Ernest J. Barber, Dan W. Mooney, Loy Powell, Walter H. Gibson and Felton O. Bishop.

Mrs. Helen Hendrix, Misses Pauline Brumblow, Elizabeth Martin and Dorothy Mundy were bridesmaids. Miss Minnie Bird was the maid of honor and Mrs. C. Gordon Martin, the bride's only sister, was the matron of honor. They were gowned alike in rust-colored velvet fashioned with floor length skirts and the bodies featured high cow necklines and long full sleeves. They carried bronze and gold dahlias caught with bronzed ribbon. George C. Stewart acted as best man for Mr. Dodd.

Beautiful Bride.

Antique ivory satin fashioned the bride's wedding gown, which was made along princess lines. A boat-shaped neckline and long full sleeves featured the close-fitting bodice. The skirt fell in graceful folds to the floor and achieved a long square cut train. Her veil, of flesh-shaded tulle was caught to her curly dark hair with a cap of real lace ornamented with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet formed of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Following the wedding Mrs. Asa M. Dodd, mother of the bridegroom, entertained at a reception at her home on Capitol avenue honoring the bride and groom and the members of the wedding party. Mrs. Charles M. Boling, of Cleveland, Ohio, sister of the bridegroom, assisted in entertaining. An Italian cut-work cloth adorned Phi Sigma Iota.

Phi Sigma Iota, of Emory University, national romance language honor society, will begin its series of monthly meetings for the scholastic year this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lordinas, 150 Fifteenth street. The purpose of the society is to encourage scholarship in the romance languages, principally French, Spanish and Italian.

Mr. and Mrs. Lordinas are honorary members of the society in the city, as are former Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton, Judge and Mrs. E. Marvin Underwood, Mrs. Hal Davidson, Mrs. J. Edward Campbell and Mrs. Enrichetta Patelli.

The paper to be read this evening will be given by a student member, Orson Beecher, on the French poet, Heredia. Short talks will be made in French, Spanish and Italian by natives of the language, followed by music and a social hour.

How to Have a Soft, Smooth, Exquisite Skin

For red, coarse, oily or shiny skin, and rough, spotted, wrinkled complexion, never use powder, because it clogs up the pores of the skin and creates an unhealthy condition. Use a place of powder, Dr. Blair's Cream of Cucumber, which will produce a beautifully clear, soft, smooth and healthy complexion.

Dr. Blair's Cream of Cucumber contains no harmful mercury, but is guaranteed to contain essence of cucumber; its presence cannot be detected and it is considered the most refined and exquisite of all complexion preparations. Does not dust, rub or blow off like powder, and one application lasts all day. Excellent for chapped hands and face.

Dr. Blair's Cream of Cucumber will not grow hair, but does prevent blackheads, takes the redness and sting out of a wind-burned complexion, and will, in time, remove all wrinkles. Use at all cosmetic counters, in white, flesh or brunette, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Cucumber Cream Co., Dept. 3, Lynchburg, Va.—(adv.)

Miss Helen Roberts
Weds Mr. Hendon
In Milledgeville

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 18. The wedding of Miss Helen Roberts, daughter of the Rev. Livingston E. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts, and Claude J. Hendon, of Atlanta, took place Wednesday evening in the First Baptist church here. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. E. Roberts, father of the bride, and pastor of the church.

A color motif of pink and green featured the decorations, the chancel rails being banked with smilax and bunches of pink chrysanthemums. Unshaded pink tapers in silver candelabra cast a glow. A musical program was rendered by Miss Maggie Jenkins, of Milledgeville, organist; Miss Mary Mitchell, of Atlanta, violinist; and Mrs. D. C. Adams, of Atlanta, soloist.

Ushers were F. S. Goodell, L. S. Albert, R. A. Clark, of Atlanta, and P. B. Williams, of Chattanooga, Tenn. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Horace Reeves, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Louise McKay, Miss Haze Glisson and Miss Betty Wilson, of Atlanta; Mrs. Hugh F. Aiken, of Brunswick; Misses Martha Bass and Elizabeth Frayer, of Milledgeville. They were gowned alike in models of pink crystal velvet, with short trains inset with shearing in the skirt, and carried Ophelia roses tied with pink and silver tulle. The groomsmen included W. T. Christy, C. R. Pritchard, Mack Mathews, H. E. Lane, B. F. Guttenberger, Roy Harwell and J. L. Hendon, all of Atlanta, and W. L. Bane, of Augusta. The matron of honor, Mrs. Harry McCowan, of Atlanta, sister of the bride, wore pink crystal velvet made like the gowns of the bridesmaids. She carried a bouquet of white lilies and pink orchids. At the altar they were met by the bridegroom and his best man, O. M. Jackson, of Atlanta.

Wings that Make Women More Beautiful

(Posed by Helen Twelvetrees.)

If Your Skin Is Oily You Can't Do Better Than Use a Skin Freshener

By MIGNON.

The woman with the oily skin can get a great deal of good out of an astringent person, because my skin is oily. Liquids are, most of them pink or water-clear, some of them slightly scented with so delicate a perfume that they are almost invisible. This is so the complaining woman won't think she isn't getting her money's worth.

The time to use a skin freshener is after a massage (if you believe me). I can't see that it is possible to get dirt off the face with any one of them. They are, for the most part, bland and harmless and one of them accompanies almost every line in the market. This alone testifies to their popularity and success.

I have never been much of an astringent person, because my skin is dry, but I do think these products are very valuable to the woman with too much oil in her skin, the one who has a delicate complexion and whose nose is it valuable when the muscles begin to sag, but it can't be used, say I, on a skin that hasn't first been treated to at least a cold cream cleansing.

Many women with oily skin prefer, and rightfully, to cleanse their faces with soap and water. In this case I don't see why they want to bother with an astringent. Unless, of course, their skin is not too oily and they use some sort of cold cream afterward. If they do this it is all right and most desirable to use an astringent after using the cream (which should be a light one for an oily skin). Then after this I would strongly recommend (I recommend them for all types of skin) a foundation cream.

I can tell you of an excellent skin freshener and hair dressing if you are one of those who need one. It is a tried-out product of excellent make and you can buy either or both of these bottles and feel pleased with yourself when you see the result.

Even dry skin will respond to the clean feeling that the freshener gives. Many women don't like, after a massage, to have that "greasy" feeling that heavy cream sometimes leaves. Their answer is to use a freshener. These bland ones will not dry the skin.

The usual care that a thoughtful mother gives her child, can be offset by this one mistake. Don't make it!

Read about a test which has told parents a lot.

Why does a mother's watchfulness and care sometimes fail to help the boy or girl whose bowels are not regular?

Often it's because the average mother gives any laxative instead of California Syrup of Figs. Instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too. Those laxatives and complaints just disappear, as a rule when this treatment is followed.

Once you change to pure, unadulterated California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too. Those laxatives and complaints just disappear, as a rule when this treatment is followed.

In ideal form for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

THE "LIQUID TEST"

This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age:

First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until bowels are moving without any help at all.

For a full and complete guide for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

Miss Pattie Porter Becomes Bride Of Mr. Holmes at Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Pattie Porter to John Pharr Holmes, of New York and Hewlett, L. I., formerly of LaGrange, was solemnized on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at North Avenue Presbyterian church, in the presence of a representative assembly of relatives and friends. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Orme Elliott, pastor of the church. Stately palms, white chrysanthemums and cathedral candles formed an effective background at the altar, and the choir rail was banked with ferns and palms, before which were erected three graceful arches, the middle arch being centered with a mound of white chrysanthemums. Seven-branched cathedral candelabra holding white candles, starred the center of the other arches. The bride and groom stood on a raised platform with palms and ferns banked on either side, and seven-branched candelabra holding white candles, flanked each side of the altar.

Bridal Personnel. The ushers were Alfred C. Newell, Lee Ashcraft, Dr. Stephen Barnett and Charles Porter, of Huntington, N. Y., uncle of the bride. The groomsmen were Edgar Holmes, of Montgomery, Ala., brother of the bridegroom; William Robbins, of New York, and John Porter, brother of the bride. Mrs. Fritz Orr was the sister of the bride, and Miss Jean Lucas acted as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Clair Alsop, of Richmond, Va., cousin of the bride, and Miss Margaret Penick, of Montclair, N. J. The attendants were costumed alike in models of chaste velvet made on long, graceful lines. They wore brown hats, long brown gloves and brown slippers, and carried bouquets of tall, slender roses tied with brown satin ribbon.

Beautiful Bride. The bride, whose beauty is of the latest type, was given in marriage by her father, John Russell Porter, with whom she entered the church, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom, who had been met by Miss Jean Lucas. The bride's gown was of lustrous white satin, the skirt being pulled to her slender figure, flaring at the back into a graceful train. The yoke of the bodice was fashioned of

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. Visits Colonel and Mrs. Crockett

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., Oct. 18. Listed among interesting visitors in military circles during the week was Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., of New York, who visited Colonel Cary Ingram Crockett and Mrs. Crockett at their quarters at the garrison. Mrs. Roosevelt's distinguished husband, Colonel Roosevelt, former governor general of the Philippines, had Colonel Crockett as his adviser during his term of office, and the two families are close friends.

Mrs. Roosevelt, formerly Miss Eleanor Albee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albee, of New York, is one of the most distinguished members of the nation's social circles. During her brief stay at the garrison, she was honored at a number of informal social affairs.

Colonel Walter F. Bates and Mrs. Bates were hosts at dinner on Wednesday evening complementing Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mobley-Morgan Rites Solemnized At Brilliant Service in LaGrange

LA GRANGE, Ga., Oct. 18.—Miss Nancy Truitt Mobley became the bride of William Ellington Morgan Jr., at a brilliant ceremony solemnized at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the handsome home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Truitt.

The ceremony was held in the drawing room, the background being interspersed with floor baskets holding white chrysanthemums. From a trio of white chrysanthemums the mantel arose three seven-branched candelabra holding unadorned tapers. The broad stairway, which the bride party descended, was flanked by gold floor baskets filled with white chrysanthemums, and an aisle was formed to the altar by ribbons of white tulle. Rev. L. M. Twigg, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the marriage service. The musical program was rendered by Mrs. Harvey Reed, soloist, and Mrs. A. H. Thompson, pianist.

Wedding Personnel. The candles at the altar were lighted by Mrs. Carolyn Scott, daughter of the bride. The ribbon-bearers were Misses Meredith Turner, Betty Ragdale, Mary Traylor, Martha Turner and Elizabeth Lemaire.

Mrs. Stark Sutton, of Atlanta, as matron of honor, was given in royal blue velvet fashioned with a square collar. The skirt ended in a small train. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of Token roses and shell pink snapdragons tied with ribbon of shell pink satin.

Miss Carolyn Scott, the bride, was given in royal blue velvet, trimmed with rhinestones, and carried a bouquet of Token roses and shell pink snapdragons tied with ribbon of shell pink satin.

The bridegroom had his brother, Render Morgan, as best man.

Bride Enters. The beautiful young bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Colonel Roosevelt, who was assisted by her father, Mr. Morgan. The ceremony was emphasized by her wedding gown of lustrous blue satin cut in princess style with a full skirt. The gown was trimmed with a wide yoke of point Venise lace which formed small cap sleeves and extended to Roosevelt. Covers were placed for Colonel Roosevelt, Gasser and Mrs. Gasser, Colonel William Henry Noble, Colonel Crockett and Mrs. Crockett, Captain Frank Smith and Mrs. Smith, Mr. Edwin Hughes, of Marysville, Ky., Mrs. Roosevelt and the hosts.

Major General George Van Horn Moseley entertained at a luncheon at his quarters on Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Roosevelt. Covers were placed for a group of the army staff.

Colonel Gasser and Mrs. Gasser were hosts at a tea on Wednesday honoring the bride and groom. The ceremony was held in the quarters of the military staff who have served in the Philippines during Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt's stay in the islands.

Colonel Crockett and Mrs. Crockett entertained at an informal tea at their quarters on Tuesday honoring their guest. Those invited included a small group of the army contingent.

the waistline in the back. Long sleeves of satin and a court train completed the gown. The bride wore a cap of rose point lace from which fell a veil of illusion tulle appliqued with rose point lace. The lace forming the cap was a part of the wedding gown worn by the bride's mother, the late Mrs. Mary Truitt Park.

The bride carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies, tied with white satin ribbon.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and out-of-town guests were entertained at a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Truitt. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Forrest Truitt, Mrs. John R. Finn of Gastonia, N. C.; and Mrs. John Wilcox, sisters of the bridegroom; Mrs. F. P. Longley, Mrs. Julian Lane, Mrs. W. E. Morgan, mother of the bridegroom; Mrs. D. A. Leman and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson. Miss Margaret Edmondson and Miss Marie Hammond presided at the punch bowls were Miss Virginia Milan, Miss Bessie Walker Callaway, Mrs. E. B. Crim and Miss Josephine Alsbrook.

Wedding Guests. Mrs. Truitt, the bride's grandmother, wore black crepe featuring a yoke of Alencon lace, and a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. W. E. Morgan, mother of the bridegroom, wore black lace, trimmed in rhinestones and a cluster of orchids.

The couple left for a motor trip. For traveling the bride wore a costume of ribbed sheer wool in boat blue with a blouse of blue satin. A small hat of the same material as the suit and navy accessories completed the modish costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, mother of the bridegroom, will make their home in LaGrange. Among their out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Truitt, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morgan, Mrs. E. B. Crim, Mrs. Stark Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Freeman Jr., Kitty Freeman, Dr. Robert Ridley, Forrest Truitt Jr., Seaborn Wright, all of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Finn, of Gastonia, N. C.; Render Morgan, of the University of Georgia; Miss Meredith Turner, of Agnes Scott College; Miss Marie Hammond, of Brenau College.

The beautiful young bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Colonel Roosevelt, who was assisted by her father, Mr. Morgan. The ceremony was emphasized by her wedding gown of lustrous blue satin cut in princess style with a full skirt. The gown was trimmed with a wide yoke of point Venise lace which formed small cap sleeves and extended to

'BAMA REGULARS TO START GAME AGAINST VOLS

Coach Thomas Pleased With Showing of Alabama Squad.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Oct. 18.—(AP) After an hour's workout today Coach Frank Thomas said his first and second Crimson Tide players to the showmen and told them to report tomorrow for a light drill that will conclude Alabama's preparations for its game with the University of Tennessee Volunteers at Birmingham Saturday.

Coach Thomas said the regular first team would start with the exception of Riley Smith at quarterback in place of Happy Campbell. Angelini will open at halfback with Millard Howell, Tide triple-threat ace.

The entire squad was reported in the best physical condition of the season.

The team's spirit is high, and Coach Thomas said he was pleased with the showing in rough practices this week.

Tonight a huge "pop" meeting was held on the Alabama campus as students prepared to move on Birmingham with the team Friday afternoon.

Vols To Take Three Elephants.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—(AP) Three complete Tennessee teams and an extra center will enter Friday afternoon for Birmingham where they meet the University of Alabama Saturday. The entire squad was termed in excellent physical condition by Dr. R. C. Brashear, team physician. A light workout was held today with freshmen running Alabama plays in dummy scrimmage.

STEEL MEN BOW TO FULTON BAG

Fulton Bag turned the tables on Atlantic Steel to win the second game of the city amateur championship play-off series by the score of 2-0 Thursday afternoon at the Steel diamond.

The third and final game is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Steel plant.

Norton, winning pitcher, struck out nine men, allowed but four hits and not a single free base. Mayo, Atlantic Steel hurler, gave up five hits, struck out five batters, and issued one walk.

Only three extra-base hits were registered during the game. Those were doubles by Woods, Aslow and Howell.

The winner of Saturday's contest will be crowned city amateur king, replacing Gaylord, last year's titleholder, who was eliminated by Atlantic Steel in the recent play-off.

Atlantic Steel won the City League title, and Fulton Bag won the Commercial league championship.

Hurry up, Ypsilanti! I never thought I'd be glad to see you.

BREAK O'DAY!
By Joseph McKee

EN ROUTE ANN ARBOR, MICH., WITH GEORGIA TECH FOOTBALL TEAM, Oct. 18.—Outside the air is all washed and laundered.

We are in the Kentucky hills. Red, brown, yellow, russet leaves make banners of the trees.

Tonight there will be Cincinnati, Ohio. In the morning Ypsilanti, Mich., with Ann Arbor just eight miles away.

Up ahead in the diner the Georgia Tech team is eating—a baked potato, lamb chops, lima beans, milk, ice cream, "great stacks of toast."

A soup and salad did for me. And the soup recalled, along with Countess Alexandra Tolstoy's book, "I Worked for the Soviets," Chuck Palmer's story of his experience on a Russian diner a few weeks ago.

Chuck Palmer is heading that committee which is to get a government housing program started in Atlanta. He went to Russia and to Poland and to Germany and England to see how they had wiped out their slums.

In Russia he rode the Trans-Siberian train, that train of which the movies have made so many romances. He sat down for dinner. The menu was of six pages. It was printed in three languages, Russian, French and English.

There were listed 42 soups. And 62 hors d'oeuvres. Chuck Palmer's eyes glistened. He likes both those on menus. Forty-two soups to serve from. He selected the famous Russian cabbage soup.

"No soup," said the waiter.

"This, then," said Palmer, selecting another.

"No soup at all," said the waiter, impassive.

"Well, then," said Palmer, "the hors d'oeuvres."

"None," said the waiter.

"Forty-two soups and 62 hors d'oeuvres and none to be had?"

"None," said the waiter.

"What is there, then?" asked Chuck Palmer.

"Stew," said the waiter on the Trans-Siberian express.

And stew he got, and in tin pans with the handles broken off.

For breakfast there were 26 omelets listed. He got, finally, caviar and black bread.

Well, that wasn't so bad. I could have gone for that. Lots of caviar and black bread.

ALEX'S MENUS.

How did I get away from football to the Trans-Siberia express? It is this book, I think.

I am a little suspicious of Coach W. A. Alexander as an arranger of menus. He connives with cooks and gets things done to the meals. For instance, I shall not eat the team dinner tonight. I do not trust Mr. Alexander. He has things up to the diners.

I recall once going to California. There were some omelets and this meat called chipped beef—lots of it—creamed. Mr. Alexander recommended it heartily.

There were lots of travelers with the team then. Those were the good old daffy days when money was to be had in any stocks and bonds office—where a young man could make $500 or so just by popping in and out. The dice always came seven and eleven then. Later they were to switch those dice. But we had crowds then.

Lois of them were drinking highballs. Between them and those of us who had eaten the salty chipped beef, we drank the train dry of water.

Tonight we will not eat with Mr. Alexander, we of the reporting staff. We shall order something for ourselves. Mr. Alexander gets the cooks to put in things. Not always. But now and then. One can't be sure.

A LITTLE HAPPIER.

I am a little happier. I have just learned that Jack Cannon, the present Tech line coach and a former All-American guard at Notre Dame, took part in amateur theatricals at Notre Dame.

There were, and are, no co-eds there. And Cannon and Ted Twomey, last year at Georgia and a former All-American tackle, portrayed chorus girls in the amateur theatricals.

They were a mad pair, Cannon and Twomey. In 1929 they went to the coast to play in the all-star game. Twomey took a pistol with blanks. He would be on one side of the street and Cannon on the other.

Twomey would fire. Cannon would scream and fall while the crowd ran. It was fun. And they never got caught.

THE NEARER ONE GETS.

The nearer one gets to Michigan the more one hears that Michigan will be ready with a team Saturday. One that will play real football. It is always thus. As a matter of fact, Tech should play them about even, although lighter and lacking in reserves.

Mr. Alexander has no effective halfbacks on offense or defense. That is largely what is wrong with the Tech team, should anyone ask. The game means a great deal to each team. But not so much, if at all, to either section.

Each team has lost two games. This is something of a nutty season, at best. Michigan, champions for years, has lost two games; Southern California, bigger, and worse than ever, Georgia defeated by the Tarheels; Notre Dame defeated by Texas. It is, at best, a nutty season.

HURRY-UP YOST.

Hurry-Up Yost is a curious and great figure in football. He and Walter Camp were the big figures in the early part of the game. Yost at Michigan. Camp at Yale.

Yost had an idea during the war of working out machine gun deployments after the fashion of football plays. It was, I think, actually tried out on some fronts during advances. There's a forward pass I wouldn't like to catch—the old rat-tat-tat pass—from Brown to you. And he's been?

Once in Nashville I saw Yost put down a loaf of bread, some potatoes and sacks of vegetables to illustrate a play and a defense for it. The crowds looked on in mild alarm. I felt a bit daffy. He had me by the arm, running me this way and that.

There should be a law against having to write these things on trains. One always suffers from indigestion, nostalgia, exhaustion.

Hurry up, Ypsilanti! I never thought I'd be glad to see you.

TIDE-VOL CLASH SPOTLIGHT OF DIXIE CARD

Alabama, Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Tulane Risk Perfect Record.

By Kenneth Gregory,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Survivors of the month-old football wars with undefeated and untied records, the gridiron forces of Alabama, Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Tulane hold the center of attention in Saturday's skirmishes in the Southeastern conference.

At least one of this quartet is bound to fall from the ranks as Alabama and Tennessee square off in battle formation on Legion field at Birmingham in the outstanding tussle of the day.

The Crimson Tide, defending its southeastern title, has been made a slight favorite over the Volunteers in this all-important contest, but each eleven has displayed fine offensive and defensive power in romps over three foes and the decision undoubtedly will be close.

Reports from both training camps indicate that the squads will be in prime condition to the last reserve and that the coaches are ready to send their strongest lineups into the fray. The Tide holds an edge on the Vols with nine victories against five defeats and one tie in a rivalry that dates back to 1901.

Tulane, conqueror of Auburn and Florida and one of the ranking contenders in the championship race, goes up against Georgia's hapless Bulldogs at New Orleans and Vanderbilt's tough and ready Commodores play Auburn's improved squad at Nashville in other intra-league games.

The powerful Green Wave is favored to take Georgia in the first conference competition for the Bulldogs, who appeared impotent in falling before North Carolina's attack, but the Athens crew, forecast as one of the strongest representatives in the south before the season, may surprise by coming to life.

Auburn's battle-scarred team departed tonight for Vanderbilt's camping grounds, hopeful of jarring the Commodores' ambitions, but Dan McGuff, Auburn's warrior, appears much too strong for the Volunteers, who already have bit the dust twice, losing to Tulane and Louisiana State. Vanderbilt has been impressive in defeating Georgia Tech and Mississippi State and pinned itself to this battle through an easy victory over Cincinnati last week.

L. S. U. VS. ARKANSAS.

The twenty-ninth renewal of one of Dixie's oldest and most colorful games at Shreveport, where Louisiana State and Arkansas pair off in an inter-sectional duel, the third for the Baton Rouge Tigers with the Memphis Southern conference opposition. L. S. U. emerged with ties against Rice and Southern Methodist and has whipped Auburn. A close, hard fought battle is in prospect.

Other inter-sectional conflicts find southeastern representatives invading the north and east. Georgia Tech's coaches and players are in Birmingham in practice and hope to make a good showing against Michigan's twice-traveling gridders. The Yellow Jackets, lost to Duke in the Southeastern West Point for a joust with Army's high-flying Cadets.

Warfare with the Southern conference continues as Florida and North Carolina State clash at Tampa and Kentucky travels to Chapel Hill to play North Carolina. Mississippi engages Howard at Oxford and Missouri plays State mixes with Southwestern at Memphis.

S. I. A. A. SCHEDULE.

Seven Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association games are on the slate, with the contest between the group engaged outside foes. The intralieu tilt is East Kentucky-Georgetown at Georgetown; Erskine-Wofford at Spartanburg; Furman-Mercer at Macon; Murray-Tennessee Tech at Murray; Southwestern (La.)-Mississippi Teachers at Hattiesburg; West Kentucky-Union College at Morehead.

Centenary, one of the S. I. A. A. leaders, grapples with Texas University at Austin; Rollins and Oglethorpe play at Atlanta; Middle Tennessee and Cumberland clash at Lebanon, and Wake Forest and Presbyterian meet at Wake Forest in other games.

The schedule calls for several games including those between Birmingham Southern-Millaps at Birmingham (night); Mississippi College-Loyola at New Orleans (night); Louisiana College-S. F. Austin at Nacogdoches; Stetson-Georgia State at Orlando; Union University-Spring Hill at Jackson, Tenn.; Centre-Maryville at Milwaukee (night) and Louisiana Normal-Lon Morris at Natchitoches, Louisiana.

Mid-Georgia Plays Alabama Teachers

COCHRAN, Ga., Oct. 18.—The Alabama Teachers' College football team reached Cochran this afternoon and had a short snappy workout. The Alabama team will average per man 175 pounds to 190 for the Middle Georgia Teachers' College.

The Middle Georgians defeated the Alabama team last season, 19 to 6, and ruined a perfect year for the boys from Troy, as they will call the game on the schedule. Friday's game will be called at 3 p. m. and from all indications one of the largest crowds to ever attend a game in Cochran will see the contest.

Dixie Stars Clash in Tulane-Georgia Fray

Several of the Southeastern conference's outstanding backfield performers will be found in action Saturday when Tulane and Georgia clash at New Orleans in one of the featured gridiron battles of the south. The brunt of the Green Wave's offensive will be borne by Captain Joe Loftin, fullback, and Monk Simons, fleet-footed halfback. Much of the Bulldogs' aggressiveness rests on the shoulders of Buck Chapman, a bounding fullback, and Jack Griffith, veteran quarterback. (Associated Press photos.)

MORTON DIES OF HEART ATTACK

SHEFFIELD, Ala., Oct. 18.—(AP) A heart attack at his home here today ended the long baseball career of Guy (Alabama Blossom) Morton, who pitched for more than a decade with the Cleveland Indians and later hurled in the Southern association.

Morton, survived by his widow and a son, died within a few minutes after he was stricken. Funeral arrangements had not been announced tonight.

The right-handed speed ball hurler remained active on the diamond until the end of the recent season. He had pitched for local semi-professional teams for the last three years, working for a Tennessee Valley Authority club the last season.

He was an employee of the TVA at the time of his death. Morton's 11-year record with Cleveland until 1924 showed he had won 97 and lost 87 for a percentage of .327.

He played for Memphis and Birmingham in the Southern association.

Crackers Beat Morton In Forfeit Game.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 18.—(AP) Guy Morton, former major league pitcher, who died today at Sheffield, Ala., is remembered here as one of the principals in an exciting Sunday afternoon game between the Crackers Association ball park several years ago.

Morton was pitching for Memphis against Atlanta, and the Chickasaws were leading 3 to 0. Munce Pigue, who was umpiring back of the plate, aroused Morton's ire when he kept calling "balls." Finally Morton knocked out of his catbird's nest his return to the Memphis dugout and Pigue ordered him out of the game.

The fans started a pop-bottle shower on Pigue, a policeman and others were struck. The game was forfeited to Atlanta, 9 to 0, and some time elapsed before Pigue could be removed from the park by police, so hostile was the crowd.

S. S. A. A. A. Calls Basketball Meeting

There will be a basketball meeting of the Sunday School Amateur Athletic Association at Beck & Grez hardware store tonight, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Baseball managers affiliated with the association the past season are also asked to attend so that all matters pertaining to baseball may be cleared from the records.

The register is open to all Sunday schools in or near the city that expect to support a basketball team this winter. Teams that were connected with the association last season are especially invited. One league may be formed tonight if there are enough teams to support it. For further information, contact Jimmy Harrison at Beck & Grez.

Mrs. Barrow Wins Ansley Park Title

Mrs. Ben Barrow retained her Ansley Park women's golf championship with a 5-4 victory over Mrs. George Sherrill Thursday morning. Mrs. Barrow went into the lead early in the match and was never headed. She played consistently throughout the tournament and was rarely ever over during the week's play.

Mrs. Sherrill fought hard to overcome Mrs. Barrow's lead but could not square the match.

Valdosta Dog Wins Florida Fox Hunt

QUINCY, Fla., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Scoring 290 points, Jeff, a hound owned by T. W. Ashby, of Valdosta, Ga., took first place in the derby cast in the Florida Fox Hunters' Association's eighth annual field trials here by a wide margin over Capt. owned by Frank S. Shaw, of Tallahassee.

Patty scored 200 points, while Pebble Hill Skipper, owned by Miss Pansy E. Ireland, of Thomasville, Ga., was third.

Game Is Feature Of 'Georgia Day'

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Mayor T. S. Walmley will proclaim Saturday Georgia Day, in observance of the football game here between University of Georgia and Tulane University. Mayor Walmley said he had already invited the mayors of Athens and Atlanta to attend the game as guests of the city.

Down the Alleys

Five matches will be bowled in the 10-team Merchants' duckpin league tonight. The games begin at 8 o'clock and a continuation of one of the best races for the first series title that has been staged in this loop prevails at this time.

Pioneer Press bowls Ponce de Leon Laundry; Insurance and $1,000 Guaranteed Products tie up; Lamar-Rankin Drugs and DeFoor & Austin will be opponents; Gulf Refining Company and Capital View Independents are matched; A. P. Tea Company and City Salesmen are scheduled.

The First National Bank lineup brings the Ducks and Tigers together as opponents; the Alligators will bowl against the scores of the Lions; the Panthers will try to make the Wildcats howl; the Bears will try their luck at outbowling the Elephants, and the Woodpeckers and Bulls will battle for supremacy.

In the ladies' group of the bank, the Whites play the Blues, and the Reds and Greens are scheduled to meet. Bowling in the circuit begins at 7:45 o'clock.

BULLDOGS OFF EARLY TONIGHT FOR WAVE GAME

Simons and Bryan Offer Chief Running Threat to Georgia.

By Jimmy Jones.

That large and enthusiastic audience of Old North Stars which applauded lustily when its heroes, Duke and the University of North Carolina, scored the double knockout over the two football representatives from Georgia last Saturday, may be just a mild sort of audience compared to the one the Bulldogs will do their performing before down in dear old New Orleans Saturday.

Mr. Horace C. Renegar, the well-known dietitian and press agent for the latest irresistible force in the way of a Tulane football team, naively hints at a crowd of 30,000 which will be present to root the green team home as only the New Orleans folks can root.

OH, SO SO.

The redoubtable Mr. Renegar brings out the reference to the proportions of the crowd in a casual sort of way down in paragraph four, as if it were the usual thing down in New Orleans. Then Horace continues with a glowing discussion of the game, its potentialities and its principles.

"It will be a battle of veteran lines and versatile backfields. It will match two great fullbacks, Chapman, of Georgia, and Loftin, of Tulane," he points out.

At here Horace really becomes eloquent. "The playrights, Ted Cox, of Tulane, and Harry Mehre, of Georgia, are collaborating in this great drama to the extent of discussing the strategies for the best possible roles but the heroes will be made on the set. The cameramen will do their best photographing down near the goal posts, if we may be pardoned for mixing a metaphor."

THE BIG IDEA.

Mr. Renegar not only can mix metaphors, he can scramble them. But all the while, he is getting his point over, which is to the general effect that there will be quite a game at the Tulane stadium, that quite a crowd will witness it and that Tulane, of course, will win.

There is only one instance of where Horace's rhetoric plays him false and this is merely a misstatement of fact. It is when he says that the game will be the two boys the Bulldogs must runners—Cy Grant, of Georgia, and Buckley Buck Bryan, of Tulane.

Does Horace know that Grant is one of the game and that he may not until the Yale game? Or does Horace believe that Grant is out of the game?

"Grant will be in the game but Tulane's Buck Bryan will be there and Horace will have to keep 11 pairs of eyes glued on him. The fast boy who stepped 101 yards in the game last year, is back at Grant field last year, is not so effective from scrimmage, but he is swift, mighty dangerous in the open field when he gets loose with a punt or a lateral pass."

BUCKY BRYAN.

Bryan, the open field runner, and "Little Monk" Simons, the Wave's ace runner and leading ground game, will be the two boys the Bulldogs must watch most closely Saturday, according to Herman Jerome Stegeman, who goes the scouting for Georgia.

"Simons is a genuine line backer from scrimmage but Bryan is more dangerous in an open field," Stegeman confesses.

He now Mr. Renegar writes dismally of another Tulane back who may be a menace to the somewhat crippled Bulldogs in one Louis (River) Thames, who he calls the "Natal" (Natal, wherever that is) racehorse. Thames, he says, is a great running back but has not been at his peak this year because of a serious injury early in September. Horace hints that "River" Thames will break loose and run right along with the rest of the team against Georgia.

Bryan will give his finest performance of the year at halfback, pointing out that he and Thames worried the Bulldogs in the previous year when Georgia turned back the Wave, 26-13, for its first victory since 1928.

If Bryan, "Little Monk" Simons and the other Bulldogs are in it, it is to Georgia, one shudders to think what Little Joe Loftin, Little Stanley Lodriguez and Little Barney Mintz, the other backfield are going to do.

THE OLD REVENGE.

The matter of retribution and revenge also enters rather strongly into this game. For did not Georgia defeat the Wave for one of its two losses last year? And was not Georgia lucky to stave off defeat after running up a 20-0 lead in the first half and then spending the last half fighting off a fast-rallying but tumbling Tulane team?

So say the Tulane folks and they can really talk a good football team of theirs. They point out that Colgate, Georgia Tech and a few other good teams fell before Tulane after Tulane fell before Georgia in early October.

Saturday they hope to see "justice" done and promise at least 20,000 witnesses to see it, just as Duke had on hand to witness the summary execution of Georgia Tech last Saturday.

LEAVE TONIGHT.

The Georgia squad, with coaches, alumni, managers and other attaches will leave Atlanta at 6:05 p. m. today on the Crescent for New Orleans, arriving there early Saturday. The Bulldogs hold a last workout on their home field this afternoon.

The improved running of Buck Chapman, the veteran fullback, has cheered Coach Mehre considerably this week, despite his injury last week. If Chapman is in fine fettle Saturday

Mercer Reserves Seats for Alumni

Mercer University alumni living in Atlanta will be assured of good seats at the Homecoming Day football game between the Bears and Furman University at Macon Saturday.

A special block of 100 tickets has been reserved for Atlanta alumni by Major J. D. Blair, Mercer's athletic director, and these may be had by applying to Major Blair via Macon.

Indications are that a large crowd will attend the game at Centennial stadium. Mercer and Furman played a 6-6 tie last year.

Coach Alex To Start Strongest Lineup Against Michigan

Cochrane Gets Most Valuable Player Award

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—(P)—For the second time in six years, Mickey Cochrane today was named the most valuable player in the American league by a committee representing the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The Detroit manager, who piloted the Bengals to their first American league pennant in 25 years only to lose the world's championship in the final game, won the honorary award by a two-vote margin over his star second baseman, Charlie Gehringer. Mickey's vote total was 67 to Gehringer's 65. Other leaders were Vernon Gomez, New York, 60; Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit, 59; and Lou Gehrig, New York, 54. Jimmie Fox, of the Athletics, winner of the award during the past two years, was tenth with 11 votes. Babe Ruth was missing for the first time while not a Washington player was named in the complete roll of 38 names.

Cochrane's selection gave the major league a great battery combination with their respective "most valuable" player awards as Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean, St. Louis Cardinal star, won the National league award with almost a perfect score. In his first year at the helm of the Tigers, Cochrane led the team from fifth place to the pennant. The Detroit club was so pleased with his record that it handed him a $10,000 bonus.

THREE MATCHES AT RIVERSIDE

Three main matches are scheduled at the Riverside arena for tonight, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Bill Schmidt, Hungarian, will wrestle John Mauldin in a no-time-limit match. This match is a result of a challenge from Schmidt, after Mauldin had boasted that he had won his last 20 matches.

Whittie Patterson will meet Charlie Norman in another match. Norman has proven that he is one of the real villains of the new game.

In the opening match, Red Dugan will meet Bob Anderson. This will be a 60-minute-limit match. Anderson now holds one decision over the former and Dugan is anxious to even the count.

The Riverside arena is located on Hollywood road.

JACKETS PLAN EARLY ATTACK WITH AIR GAME

Roberts and Phillips Due To Start Against Wolverines.

By Ralph McGill.

EN ROUTE ANN ARBOR, MICH., WITH GEORGIA-TECH FOOTBALL TEAM, Oct. 18.—Georgia Tech's football caravan of Pullmans was a series of moving lecture rooms today as coaches took groups into the various dressing rooms and continued to initiate them into the mysteries of the attack and defense which they hope will defeat Michigan on Saturday.

The problem of the lineup remained a real problem with Billy Street and "Sundial" Martin, halfbacks, both in second rate condition, the former due to a bruised side suffered in practice at Atlanta on Wednesday and the latter because of an injured arm and poor condition due to illness.

It was deemed likely however, that Coach Alexander would toss the best he had in there with the opening whistle and try to get the jump on the Michiganans, reported to be slow.

Coch Alexander was at a new low ebb, however, due to the newspaper and a case of mistaken identity by the dining car steward at breakfast.

The three correspondents were eating breakfast when the steward approached Coach Alexander.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

"Is it all right for these three players to have extra coffee?" he asked, indicating the newspaper men.

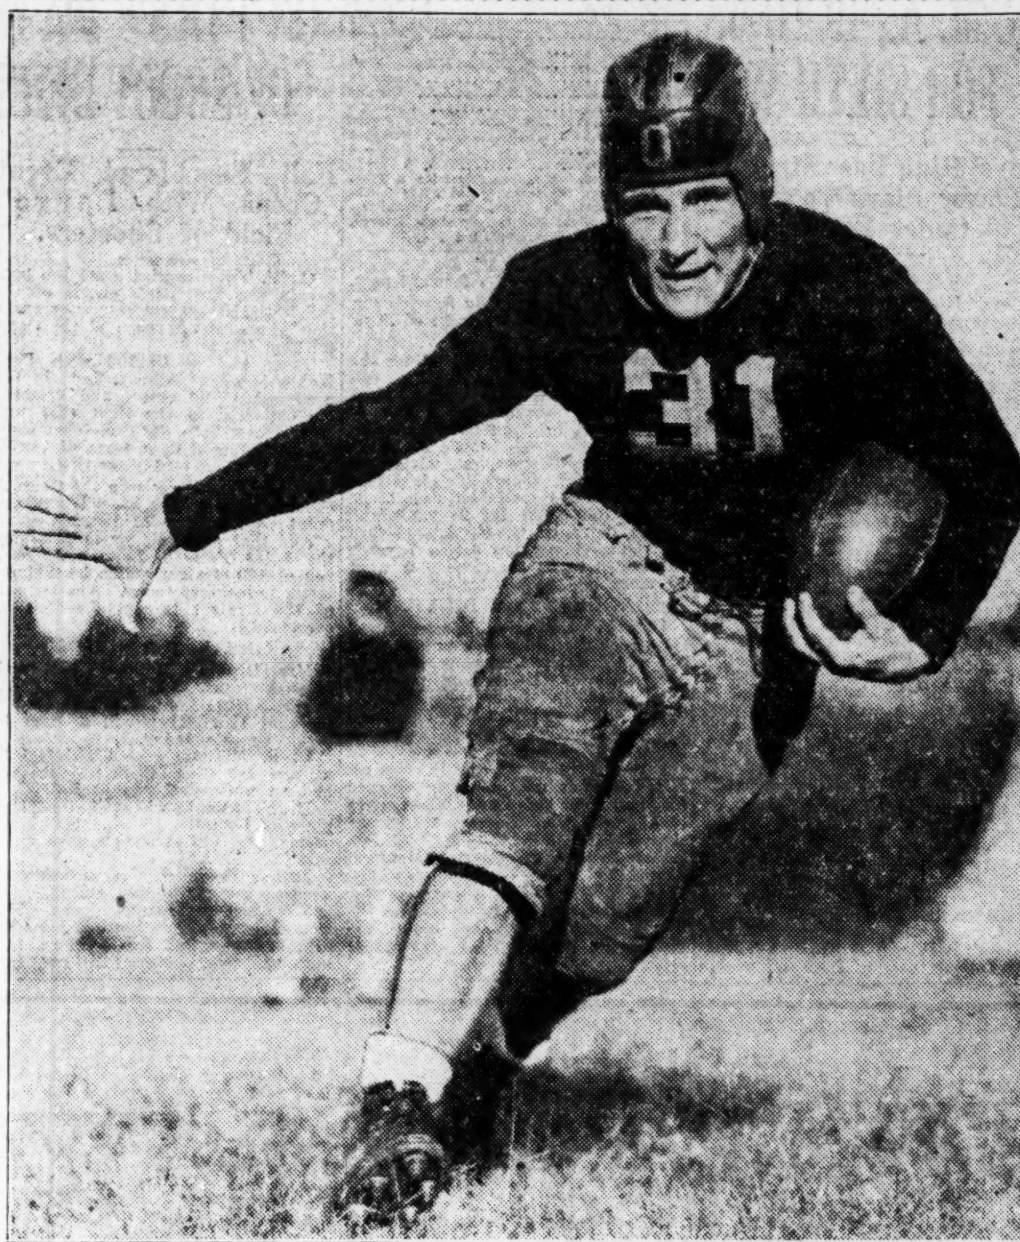

"My goodness," said Coach Alexander, "I knew we didn't look so good, but if those three guys look like members of our team then all hope is lost."

The query elated your correspondent. One more such mistake in identity and he will ask for a suit and go in there to take a sock at those Michiganans.

Starting the best he has means that Coach Alexander will start Shorty Roberts and Jack Phillips. He expects the latter to be somewhat better in his real form for this game, an early injury which kept him out for three weeks having prevented his reaching that condition before now.

TO START PASSES. This means that the Jackets will start right out throwing passes and throwing all the speed they have into

SMITHIES MEET MONROE AGGIES HERE TONIGHT

Decatur Plays Fulton at Decatur; Russell Meets Newnan.

By Roy White.

Tech High and Monroe Aggies will close the week's prep football schedule at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park. It will be the feature of four games in which Atlanta's prep teams will be involved.

Decatur plays Fulton High at 7:45 o'clock at Decatur, Russell meets Newnan at 2:30 o'clock at East Point, Marist plays at Rome and Commercial goes to Thomaston to play R. E. Lee in the other games.

Decatur, with a team that is showing a vast improvement with each game, under Coach Wendell Sullivan's guidance, will have little trouble in winning from Fulton. The county lads have failed to score in a majority of the games played and will be considerably outweighed.

PLENTY OF ACTION.

There will be plenty of action in the Tech High-Monroe Aggie game. Tech High is undefeated in five games and has scored 88 points against none for the opposition.

Monroe lost to Boys' High, 12 to 0, won from Russell High, 6 to 0, and lost to G. M. A., 7 to 6. In all three games, the Aggies gained plenty of first downs, but lacked the necessary scoring punch. Monroe out-gained G. M. A. plenty and held the Cadets four downs within the 5-yard line, but could not score from their own momentum.

Buck Hightower in his first game led the attack for Monroe and gained more ground than any other player on the field. He will be watched with interest tonight.

LINEUP FEATURE.

The line play of both teams should be one of the features tonight. Monroe will likely line up with Mize and Mizell at ends, Golightly and Spradberry, tackles; Dillard and Dunston, guards; Reddick, center, and Jones, Hightower, Fontaine and Black in the backfield. Reddick and Golightly are

Chapman Looks Good In Final Scrimmage

Big Fullback Back in Form for Georgia; Alf Anderson's Passing Features.

By Bill Ray.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 18.—Those Bulldogs were in there fighting for railroad tickets today.

Their last chance at hand to show their stuff before Coach Harry Mehre picks the squad that will leave for New Orleans Friday afternoon, reserves gave their all, pushing the seasoned veterans who hustled and kept on their toes all during the 60 minutes of offensive scrimmage as Monday's ultimatum still ranked in their memories.

And it was a creditable showing that these fighting Bulldogs made against Johnny Broadnax's husky freshman crew, reeling off an even dozen touchdowns with regularity and in varied manner of fashion exhibiting a potent, versatile attack with a deadly scoring punch that registered for the first time since the Stetson game.

With the exception of Bob Law, a sophomore, at center, Coach Mehre started an experienced eleven in this afternoon's scrimmage. They were: Charley Turbeyville and Henry Waggon, ends; Julius Caesar Hall and John West, tackles; Frank Johnson and John Brown, guards; Law, center; Jack Griffith, quarterback; John Bond and Al Minot, halfbacks, and Buck Chapman, fullback.

BUCK GETS AWAY.

Chapman, husky Winder fullback, who had been flashing his old form all week, broke through tackle, reversed the field and raced for the first score. Not only was his blocking considerably improved, but he showed a great deal of ability as a passer, combining with Alf Anderson in the latter stages of the workout, to get the credit for an assist on the tally that resulted.

Passing was stressed a great deal, indicating that Coach Mehre is intending to capitalize on what seems to be a vulnerable spot in the Greenies' defensive armor as was shown in their contests with Auburn and Florida.

With Mehre's decision to use Alf Anderson Saturday, Georgia's aerial attack cannot be regarded too lightly. In practice, young Anderson has shown considerable ability as a ball tosser, and will strengthen materially the Bulldog brigade of passers that consists of Buck Chapman, John Bond, Maurice Green and Paul Causey.

ALF FLIPS TWO.

Anderson flipped two touchdowns passes this afternoon, one to Maurice Green, and another to Jim Cavan, who has been his pass receiver ever since they were in high school. He got off a number of other throws that were usually good for long gains. Mehre's change of mind regarding using Anderson came when he learned that Causey's bruised ankle was worse than he had thought and realized that he would have to use the Floridan sparingly.

And Mehre's conviction was strengthened when John Bond came out of the workout with an aching shoulder, and Al Minot with a leg bruise.

Although Glenn Johnson's shoulder is not yet entirely healed, his performance here this afternoon indicated that it would not bother him very much. He scored four touchdowns, once racing the entire length of the field, twice on long dashes, and again on a pass from Causey.

On the whole, the line was charging harder and faster and the backs were getting better blocking from their interferences.

LAST WORKOUT.

The squad will leave Athens Friday at 5 p. m. and will arrive in Atlanta early enough to make the Crescent Limited. Coach Mehre said he would not know the players who would make the trip until tomorrow.

Those automatically excluded because they are on the sick list are Cy Grant, who has a dislocated shoulder; Charlie Harrold, who has a severe Charley horse; "Dub" Law who banged up his knee this week; Hugh O'Farrell, who has a torn ligament in his shoulder, and Leroy Moorehead, who is recovering from an attack of malaria.

The squad will take a light workout on Sanford field Friday, before taking the bus to Atlanta.

SOUTH CAROLINA DEFEATS CITADEL

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—In weather almost too hot for football that made frequent substitutions necessary, University of South Carolina Gamecocks scored a 20-6 victory over Citadel here today.

The game was played before 8,000 spectators at the Orangeburg fair.

The fans got their first thrill on the second play of the game, when Mauney scampered 65 yards for a South Carolina touchdown. Mauney passed to Johnson for the next tally in the second period. McGrady counted the third touchdown in the last quarter.

Symmes scored Citadel's touchdown in the fourth period, when he blocked Mauney's punt and fell on it across the goal line.

by the Michigan varsity team today, described it as "sluggish" as the players left the field.

"I can't figure it. They are different than any gang I've ever coached on," said Kipke as he watched the freshmen break through and spill the varsity offensive formations, both passing and running. In an attempt to develop a forward pass attack for Georgia Tech, Kipke had footballs sailing all over the field, but the freshmen either knocked them down or intercepted the tosses. Wilard Hildebrand, star defense guard, was out of the lineup with injuries and may not play Saturday.

NEGRO TEAMS BATTLE TODAY

This afternoon at 2 o'clock two of the outstanding colored teams of the south will clash at Ponce de Leon park, in the first major football attraction of the current season, Morehouse College, of Atlanta, and Talladega College, of Talladega, Ala., are scheduled to come to grips.

Both squads are well coached as a former Brown University star, "Ink" Williams, is head mentor at Morehouse and Gordon Kitchen, former Tuskegee star, is head coach of Talladega.

Morehouse, favorite in this game, will be strengthened by the return of Lamar and Baugh, two stellar backfield performers, who carried the colors of the Baptist institution to a high place last year.

All-in-all it will be a football game worth the price of admission. The weird cheering of the student body and the singing is a feature in itself. The advance sale for this game indicated a crowd of 5,000 or more will witness the fracas.

Talladega College, with a heavy squad will be playing its first conference game of the year. The team arrived late Friday afternoon bringing a squad of 28 men.

Basketball Meeting Called for Saturday

A meeting is being called to organize basketball and volleyball leagues Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce. This program is being sponsored by the recreation department of the Fulton county relief administration in co-operation with the Atlanta schools, and will include a general athletic program designed to reach as many citizens of Greater Atlanta and Fulton county as possible.

The program will include adult men and women over 16 years of age that are not in school. A separate program is being worked out for boys and girls under 16.

it will partially make up for the loss of Grant and several reserves that Mehre will be without in this game. Chapman, when right, is not only a great running back, but a fine blocker and defensive man.

Greenie's Passes Also Potent.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—If and when the Tulane running attack is stopped this year, the Green Wave may furnish a real scoring weapon in the forward pass.

That fact is clearly indicated by the strength of the passing attack in the first two games of the year.

The Wave against Chattanooga and Auburn, namely their first two opponents, have tossed 15 passes and completed six of them. That is an average of 40 per cent successful, which is high in any league.

Moreover, two of those heaves have produced touchdowns.

Charlie Kyle snatched one of them in for a touchdown against Chattanooga and Dick Hardy raked the other in for a touchdown against Auburn.

The Greenie air defense to date has been just as successful as the offensive weapon has been deadly to the opposing teams. Only three of the 24 opposing passes have been completed and none was costly.

Coch Lester Lautenschlager, a phenomenal passer in his playing days at Tulane, has worked long and hard to perfect both the pass from an offensive standpoint as well as from the defensive angle.

Both Hardy and Kyle have been developed into splendid pass receivers. Their experience, speed and height make them capable receivers.

Petrel Coaches Add Some New Plays for Rollins Contest

INJURED STARS WILL BE OKAY FOR SATURDAY

Ed Massey Will Start at Center; Patrick Names Lineup.

By Jack Troy.

If, during the Oglethorpe-Rollins football game, Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park, you should hear a shrill "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," think nothing of it. For it will be the voice of the pigskin, dizzily from spinner plays.

Alumni Coaches John Patrick and Harry Wren have added a couple of new spinners to the tricky repertoire of plays.

Few prettier offenses are seen in the south than the Oglethorpe military shift when the linesmen wheel around, march smartly up to the line of scrimmage and charge in perfect cadence ahead of the spinning, reversing and altogether smartly performing backs.

PATRICK HOPEFUL

Coach John Patrick was hopeful last night that Jack Purrey, Oglethorpe's Skippy Roberts, would be able to play in part of Saturday's game.

Purrey twisted an ankle in practice Wednesday and young Stacey Rowell, splendid Petrel trainer, is bringing the injury around in pleasing fashion.

"I think Jack will be all right," Patrick said. "We need him and he is eager to play. I don't think we could keep him out of the game."

Ed Massey, who was reported injured, will start in the game at center. The big pivot man suffered a slight knee injury in Thursday's drill, but he is all right now.

Coach Patrick was walking about yesterday, like a barefoot Hindu who had lost the faith, on jagged glass. Patrick steered the small sound away from everything that had a semblance of body contact and hoped to have most of his dependables in shape for the kick-off.

STARTING LINEUP

Oglethorpe's starting lineup will be the same as used against Chattanooga with exceptionally fine results. The

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Krawtlow Rice

(Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

THE SECOND GUESS.

Quarterback—quarterback—what's your coming play? Will you call a forward pass or hammer at the line? They have got you cornered here, holding you at bay, Though the shadow of the posts falls across your spine; We are looking down at you, in the muck and stress, But we've got it on you, kid—with the second guess.

Quarterback—quarterback—sprawling on your ear, Second down and nine to go—will you kick or run? Will you cross 'em with a pass, shaking some one clear? You might also change your mind when the game is done. O, we've got it on you, kid—with the second guess. Hammered, jolted, bumped around in the muck and stress—

Quarterback—quarterback—pouring out your soul, Straining brain and nerve and heart through the swirling storms, There's your golden destiny, the dim and waiting goal, With a pair of seconds left, as the huddle forms. Quarterback, quarterback—nineteen years or less— How'd you like to have our chance—with the second guess?

SATURDAY'S ROUNDUP.

Minnesota-Pittsburgh—Minnesota by a shade, with more power and more experience in a hammering, battering, low-scoring jamboree.

Columbia-Navy—Columbia, plus the bounding Barabas, by the margin of a touchdown, but no part of a walkover.

Michigan-Georgia Tech—Two teams of stride and out of focus where anything can happen.

Tennessee-Alabama—A baffling toss-up between two of the best from any sector, with Tennessee better at the passing game.

Yale-Brown—Yale by a scant margin with little to spare between two evenly matched teams.

Fordham-St. Mary's—Who can do a team that can beat California and can't beat Nevada? Fordham is good but that Nevada jolt should set the Gaels in front.

Harvard-Holy Cross—Holy Cross has too much power, speed and experience for the Crimson.

Georgia-Tulane—Bryant and Sim-

PURPLES BEAT G. M. A., 19 TO 6, FOR SIXTH WIN

Boys' High Uses Straight Power Plays To Beat Cadet Eleven.

By Roy White.

Boys' High continued its scoring rampage and defeated G. M. A., 19 to 6, Thursday night at Ponce de Leon park for the sixth straight win of the season. The victory moved Boys' High a step nearer a claim for the Georgia state championship, as the Purples have defeated four members of the Georgia Interscholastic Athletic Association.

The Purples stuck mainly to power plays through the Cadet line and only once was their forward passing attack brought into play. A 19-yard pass, Cumble to Atkinson, early in the second quarter, placed the ball on G. M. A.'s 1-yard line and Brandes bucked it over on the next play. The pass caught the entire G. M. A. team napping.

CADETS SCORE.

G. M. A. entered the game as the underdog but the Cadets fought hard all the way. It was a 40-yard pass and Singleton's 30-yard run that gave the Cadets their touchdown and it won honors for one of the season's best plays. The play came in the last quarter.

Ed Manning, G. M. A. halfback, dropped back to pass, was rushed and after eluding a Purple tackler, he took his time and threw the ball 40 yards to Singleton, who had passed the Boys' High secondary. The Cadet end continued on the remaining 30 yards to score.

Boys' High gained 11 first downs, 10 of those coming from off tackle

Eight Unbeaten, Untied Teams Clash in Saturday's Features

REAL CONTENDER FOR GRID TITLE SHOULD EMERGE

Pitt, 'Bama, Columbia and Holy Cross Picked To Win.

By Stuart Cameron.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(UP)—Minnesota or Pitt? Columbia or Navy? Alabama or Tennessee? Holy Cross or Harvard?

Racing toward four head-on collisions, these eight unbeaten and untied football teams will clash in standard contests Saturday, out of which should emerge the logical contenders for the national football championship, if any.

Minnesota is back with almost the same team, and Pitt has lost several of her leading athletes, notably Joe Skladany, her great end. But the game appears as near a toss-up as any on Saturday's slate.

The scant edge in betting odds is on Minnesota, but Pitt is tabbed here for the win—possibly on the hunch that Pitt is riding a rising wave after her win over Southern California last week.

Columbia's Rose Bowl Lions look like easy winners over the navy, even if Buzz Bonner gets into the game. A star halfback, too sick to practice all week, and out of practice up to Thursday, is not likely to be very tough on Saturday. Columbia, even without the great Cliff Montgomery, still has Al Barabas.

Alabama, with a smart crew, has seemed slightly more impressive than Tennessee and should take this southern classic.

Holy Cross under a new regime has a fighting back and should be able to win hands down from a sluggish Harvard squad.

Here's a set of predictions made by United Press writers in the various sections of the country:

St. Mary's-Fordham: St. Mary's has the edge in what should be a thriller.

Tulane-Georgia: Tulane, handsomely.

Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech: Notre Dame showed great improvement in beating Purdue after losing to Texas, and should beat the Tartans.

U. S. C.-Oregon State: U. S. C. to squeak through.

Michigan-Georgia Tech: Michigan.

Ohio State-Colgate: Ohio, but may close.

California-U. C. L. A.: California in a tight one.

Centenary-Texas: Texas.

Princeton-W. and L.: Princeton by as much as it pleases.

Nebraska-Oklahoma: Nebraska by a shade.

SMITHIES MEET MONROE TONIGHT

Two outstanding linemen, Reddick has played every position on the Monroe line and his defensive play is a shade better than his offense. In the G. M. A. game he snapped the ball and tackled a Monroe player as a G. M. A. pass was intercepted. In the Boys' High game Reddick made four successive tackles when the Purples were within the 10-yard line and failed to gain the necessary yardage for a first down.

Tech High's lineup will be Cronin and Coyle, ends; Tarrant and Cunningham, tackles; W. Williams, center; and Schutte, Butler, Barnes and Newlands in the backfield.

DEDICATE NEW GYM.

In addition to the Russell-Newman football game at 2:30 o'clock, a new gymnasium will be dedicated at East Point this afternoon. The John J. Egan Memorial hall is one of the most up-to-date prep gymnasiums in the state.

It will mean the return of Russell in the North Georgia Interscholastic conference basketball race and will add another big basketball court to the city.

Rome To Play Marist Today.

ROME, Ga., Oct. 18.—Rome High school's football team is expecting a hard battle here Friday afternoon when they meet Marist College, of Atlanta, at Barron park. The team has been put through intensive practice by Coach Quigg Tucker in preparation for the game.

Quinn Wakely, quarterback, who has been out for a week on account of injuries, will be back in the lineup and the first-string line will be intact. Rome High defeated Marist, 19-12, last year.

Darlington Plays Gordon Saturday.

ROME, Ga., Oct. 18.—The Darlington Tigers will meet the strong Gordon Military Institute team here Saturday at Barron park. The local team is out to avenge a 6-2 victory inflicted by the Cadets last year.

Two Darlington players, Byars and Walter Hackett, may be out of the game on account of injuries.

Stanford-San Francisco: Stanford.

Vanderbilt-Auburn: Vanderbilt.

Louisiana State-Arkansas: La. State by a lot.

Penn-Rutgers: Penn by precious little.

Yale-Brown: Yale.

Texas Aggies-Texas Christian: T. C. U.

Oregon-Idaho: Oregon.

INJURED STARS WILL BE OKAY FOR SATURDAY

Ed Massey Will Start at Center; Patrick Names Lineup.

"heavy" backfield will open the game. This includes Belton Clark, quarterback; Cecil Moon and Bill Reynolds, halfbacks, and Captain Frank Mitnick, fullback.

The line will be Hank Freeman and Tubby Thompson, ends; Willie Bell Robinson and Jim Darracott, tackles; Jack McNeely and Lamar Adams, guards, and Ed Massey, center.

Reserve backs, most of whom will be sent into the game at one time or another, include Puryear, Sully Sullivan, Sam Leslie, Hoyt Farmer, Bill Borman and Frank Tuppen.

McNamara and Pickard are a couple of pretty fair line reserves. Oglethorpe has very little replacement support for the line. For that reason most of the starting members of the forward wall have full-time jobs.

The Stormy Petrels, seeking their fourth victory in the first five games, are guarding against Tar passes in practice. Socrates Chokales, invading quarterback, has a reputation for flinging them with a marked accuracy.

The Tars, according to reports, have gone ahead and replaced the four stars ruled ineligible Wednesday night and are preparing for the game in a highly spirited and confident manner.

The Rollins center is a Georgia boy. He is Carl (Gus) Kotles, of Dalton, and starred both in the Florida and Newberry games.

Joe Jardine, an end from Douglas, Ga., will play part of the time. Jardine was injured most of last year.

George Miller, a pint-sized halfback, is now one of the leading running threats since the ineligibility of Ruppert Scott and Roy Allen, stellar backs. Miller prepped at Leesburg High school in Florida and enjoyed quite a scholastic reputation. He stood out in the Florida game.

Don't make any mistake about this. The Rollins team. Loss of four players hurts, but the Tars of Jack McDowell, a much larger squad than Oglethorpe, to begin with.

Rollins Alumni To Sit Together.

Rollins alumni in Atlanta who will attend the game with Oglethorpe here Saturday are asked to communicate with Roland Barre at Davidson-Paxon's in regard to a special seating section at the game.

ADVERTISING COPY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

F. R. Gamble, Four A Executive Secretary, Addresses Ad Club.

Of unusual interest to the members of the Atlanta Advertising Club was the meeting yesterday, which was addressed by F. R. Gamble, executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

This was the second talk made in Atlanta by Mr. Gamble, who spoke on Wednesday to the representative advertising agencies on topics specifically connected with the problems and progress of the men and women who make up the membership of the various advertising agencies in Atlanta.

His subject yesterday related to the improvements in advertising of all types. One reason for this was that it was necessary for unusual efforts to be made to obtain and to hold business.

This condition naturally led to a closer study of copy, an analysis of results, and improved methods of testing out copy in various ways evolved by the advertisers and advertising agencies.

One result of these increased efforts to obtain business was the accentuation of sound tendencies, for it was necessary for such advertisers who have taken a wrong direction in their copy and methods to overaccutate them in order to obtain business in a time of strong competition.

As a result, deficiencies and inadequacies were more easily observed and were therefore quicker to draw adverse criticism, and in sequence led to reform among those advertisers who overstep good taste and indulge in inaccuracies.

The improvements which have been noted most recently were grouped by Mr. Gamble under two headings—technical and structural. Among the improvements designated by him as technical, he referred to dramatized ads, in which human interest was highly developed, and in this connection he referred to the use of copy in large and small quantities, in the comic sections of the various newspapers. There had also been, he said, a change in the style of the results which might be obtained by photography. Mr. Gamble stated, too, that color advertising in the newspapers had been rapidly improved and that it was possible to obtain an excellent type of color printing on high-speed presses. In this connection he referred to the improvement which had taken place in the radio field, which had begun in a rather hillyhoo fashion but that now was finding its stride and bringing to many programs stars of the movie field as well as singers of national repute.

In his reference to what he called structural improvements, he said that this was the type of improvement which required the cooperation of various factors. He particularly referred to the improvements in the Audit Bureau of Circulations in its study of circulation, the method by which it was obtained, the distribution in metropolitan and trading areas.

Mr. Gamble stated that out-of-door advertising was also placing itself on a basis which would remove any bit-and-miss calculations with the effectiveness of ads where the value of a display location was concerned.

In closing his talk, Mr. Gamble read the seven-point copy code, which is the basis of the more which advertisers are making toward preparing and printing copy which will be not only effective but truthful. The code follows:

1. False statements or misleading exaggerations.

2. Indirect misrepresentation of a product or service through distortion of details, either editorially or pictorially.

3. Statements or suggestions offensive to race, religion, or other groups.

4. Statements which tend to undermine an industry by attributing to its products, generally, faults and weaknesses true only to a few.

5. Price claims that are misleading.

6. Pseudo-scientific advertising, including claims insufficiently supported by accepted authority, or that distort the true meaning or application of a statement made by professional or scientific authority.

7. Testimonials which do not reflect the real choice of a competent witness.

Mr. Gamble was introduced to his audience by E. E. Dallas, of the Johnson-Dallas Company, after George C. Biggers, the recently appointed business manager of the Atlanta Journal, had been presented to his conferees of the Advertising Club.

'HARD-HEADEDNESS' WINS 'GANG T E R M' FOR ATLANTA NEGRO

The industrial labor board has graded Marsh Holman, negro, as permanently disabled, according to testimony in city criminal court Thursday.

The board evidently didn't include Marsh's head in its verdict, however.

According to the negro and his witnesses summoned to his aid on an assault and battery charge, a radio was smashed to bits over the negro's cranium, resulting in a shower of splintered wood, broken glass and twisted metal. The latter was beaten with powdered glass as a result.

An iron pot then descended on Marsh's dome, and something like flying shrapnel peppered the bystanders. Marsh's story might have enlisted the sympathy of the court but for the fact that witnesses, who had seen "the other fellow," Robert Bankston, testified that the latter was beaten into insensibility notwithstanding his use of the unusual weapons. Marsh will have nine months on the chain gang to meditate on his "hard-headedness" and must also pay a fine of $75.

It was natural, Mr. Gamble said, that that sort of stress should bring improvements in advertising of all types. One reason for this was that it was necessary for unusual efforts to be made to obtain and to hold business.

This condition naturally led to a closer study of copy, an analysis of results, and improved methods of testing out copy in various ways evolved by the advertisers and advertising agencies.

Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech—Notre Dame is on her way and should win by backfield superiority alone.

Manhattan-Michigan State—The wheel of fortune should spin for Michigan State's smooth working team.

Chicago-Indiana—The Hoosiers will find Berwanger, of Chicago, something to stop. Chicago should win.

TWO HOT SPOTS.

Two of the gridiron's hottest spots this week will be at Pittsburgh and Birmingham. By 4:30 tomorrow afternoon you will see the smoke rising from the smoldering debris of two dreams.

Tennessee or Alabama and the north. Tennessee and Alabama are two of the best in Dixie.

Barring a draw, the double shock will dilodge two leading powers seeking the kingdom of football fame and perhaps an unbeaten year.

Minnesota or Pittsburgh must fall. Tennessee or Alabama fade from the top sky-line in the further reduction of national headlines.

Minnesota will send a veteran team into the field—with replacements strong enough to crowd out veterans—a powerful line working in front of one of the best backfields of many years.

Tennessee's sole margin over Alabama is the deadly passing of Vaughn, one of those snipers in the Benny Friedman-Bobby Dodd brigade.

With unbeaten Fordham facing her hardest test against the pounding assault of St. Mary's always has, an equal amount of interest swings to Columbia's hope for an unbeaten year in her stand against a Navy team keyed up for this game. Tennessee's sole margin over Alabama is the deadly passing of Vaughn, one of those snipers in the Benny Friedman-Bobby Dodd brigade.

With unbeaten Fordham facing her hardest test against the pounding assault of St. Mary's always has, an equal amount of interest swings to Columbia's hope for an unbeaten year in her stand against a Navy team keyed up for this game. They are all keyed up now when they go Lion hunting and this will be the Rose Bowl champions' leading hazard up to date.

SITE CHANGED.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Charlotte American league football team, today says the game with Dallas on October 28, originally scheduled for the Texas city, would be played here.

back, and Clarkson, the broken field runner who can kick with either foot and pass with either hand. These two, with Pug Lund, rated as one of the stars of 1933, give the Gophers speed, power, versatility and experience, which should provide even more damage than last year's Jock Sutherland can draw from Weisenbaugh, Weinstock, Larus, Nicksick and Munjas—who are no flat-footed pygmies on their own.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Small losses predominated at the close of the stock market today. Trading broadened, but the market was not as active as the previous day.

A number of specialties were resistant. Metals, oils and utilities eased. Quotations were a bit mixed at the start of the day but showed improvement around mid-day. Movements were mainly in the early afternoon, but the offerings appeared near the finish.

Safety Car heating rose some 5 points in a new turnover. National Dairy preferred showed a similar advance, moving into new high ground for the year. Interstate Hosiery got up 1 point.

American Cyanamid R. Swift & Company and Hiram Walker were steady. Losses of fractions to around a point were recorded by American Gas & Electric, Crooke Petroleum, Lake Shore, Distillers Corporation, Seagrams, Newmont, Parker Rust Proof, Gulf Oil, Pioneer Gold, Electric Bond & Share and Singer Manufacturing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A little more interest—mainly academic—is apparent in the stock market today and traders are hopeful of a pickup in volume during the afternoon. The market itself is providing the interest, for both business and political news are without stimulant. The market in the market there are these points:

Increased interest in individual stocks.

A clean record by the new exchange commission in recent activity in a merchandising issue.

Ease with which the market absorbs what it develops and the disinclination of the market to get active when prices turn head.

Traders' interest today got a tremendous boost from the news of the "GI" on the board—real out to take the lead so far as market activity was concerned. There were numerous reasons around brokers' age houses. The company was bringing out a new razor. Boston Intercontinental was in the room today. Houses called a similar run-up the stock had a few weeks ago—a run up which had a goal considerably higher than the stock is now selling—only to stumble on the way.

While technically this did not mean a great deal to the market today, it did give a little more of the spirit of the old time. The market today to Wall Street, Chicago at the same time was getting interested in the packing shares and succeeded in running up the market into the day's most active trading.

This interest came on a market that closed no better—or worse—than the day before. Fourth hour found prices higher. Fifth hour found prices higher. Volume amounted to only 1,000,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Shell Union Oil Company has called for retirement on November 19 at 102 and 103, a 5 percent debenture due in 1949, it was announced today.

McCombs, Miss. Oct. 18.—(AP)—Paul Dillon, a negro, wanted by state police for the murder of a white man, was captured in Okefenokee, last night in a fight with a posse.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Foreign exchange in London, Oct. 18.—Money 4 1/2 per cent. Discount rate: Short bills 1 1/2-1 3/4; three-month bills 1 1/2-1 3/4; six-month bills 1 1/2-1 3/4. Bank of England rate: 4 1/2 per cent. (United States equivalent $35.00 on basis of sterling option at $48.00).

Mutes See Parade.

CAVE SPRING, Ga., Oct. 18.—
The pupils of the Georgia School for the Deaf enjoyed the rare treat of attending the parade in Rome of the Hogback Valley circus yesterday morning. The buses of the consolidated school and trucks in town were furnished for transportation.

DAILY SHORT STORY

OUR WIFE

By ZENTHA MYERS GARRETT.

After Sid Benton Left the Home Town Changed, But He Returned to Meet an Old Acquaintance.

The freight train pulled across the tidelands and into the city limits. At the Eleventh street bridge Sid Benton climbed down the side of a box car and dropped to the ground, keeping his balance, like the expert that

The town, he found, had changed some, but he had little difficulty in finding a "feed." He always selected the best places when asking for food. The more exclusive the place the more food there was left on the dishes when he returned to his

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Captain J. W. Mayfield, of fire station No. 16, Atlanta, will preach at the St. Oliver Baptist church, near Fairburn, Ga., Sunday morning. Rev. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, is pastor of this church.

Junior and senior departments of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression will present an expression and declamation recital at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The public is invited.

Uncertainty over whether the federal government can enforce its attempt to collect $100,000 in tax from all local beer dealers has prompted 98 dealers to notify J. Henson Tatum, city clerk, that they have discontinued sales for the final quarter of the year. Tatum and his associates are engaged in a check-up to force all those still engaged in the beer business to pay the city license.

Mayor James L. Key Thursday invited the public to attend a hearing at 10 o'clock this morning at the city hall on a council ordinance forcing all persons handling food and drinks for public consumption to submit to semi-annual physical examinations in order to be sure they have no communicable diseases.

Charles Johnson, negro, was sentenced Thursday to life imprisonment for the murder of Lucile Rucker, a negro woman, in her Hunter street home June 28 after a jury had found him guilty with recommendation of mercy.

Fred Stewart, 509 Boulevard N. E., was fined $100 and given 12 months' probation Thursday in city criminal court on a liquor charge.

Petition for a new trial for Fred Pierce, of Gainesville, Fla., sentenced to three months at the state farm by Judge E. Marvin Underwood last Saturday after conviction in connection with the killing of Clarence Demore, will be heard Saturday, October 20. The motion for a new trial was filed Wednesday by Clint W. Hager, attorney for Pierce.

Three persons were treated at Grady hospital Thursday for injuries received when their automobile was struck by a street car at the junction of West Ontario avenue and Gordon street. They are Miss Ruth Hood, of 379 West Ontario avenue, driver of the car, and Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Proctor, sister and brother-in-law of Miss Hood. All three were dismissed at the hospital after treatment.

Jo Ann Smith, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, of Lafayette avenue, street address, was ordered bound over to the grand jury under a $200 bond Thursday afternoon by Recorder John L. Cone on a charge of aiding an escaped convict. Testimony was given in the court alleging that she warned an escaped convict that she was a member of the Atlanta police department.

Grace Smith, negro woman, of an Irwin street address, was ordered bound over to the grand jury under a $200 bond Thursday afternoon by Recorder John L. Cone on a charge of aiding an escaped convict. Testimony was given in the court alleging that she warned an escaped convict that she was a member of the Atlanta police department.

Back Tax Collections By U. S. $116,914,734

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The treasury's campaign against delinquent taxpayers was reported by officials today to be yielding a harvest which will prove more than sufficient to pay for a year's enforcement of the internal revenue laws.

From the first of January to the end of August, this year, back tax collections totaled $116,914,734, compared with $87,714,000 in the same period last year, and $121,800,000 for the entire year of 1933.

The increase of approximately $29,000,000 for the eight months, treasury officials said, would come within a million dollars of paying a year's cost of all income tax collections. By December 30, they said, such receipts would be far above the year's administrative bill.

W. B. Spellberger, a grocer at 556 Auburn avenue, reported to police Thursday night that he was held up and robbed of $17 by three armed negro bandits. They came in his store about 7 o'clock, he said, and holding him and several customers at bay with their revolvers, rifled the cash drawer.

Business women's group of the T. E. L. class of the Grant Park Baptist church will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. Taylor Smith, 615 Kennedy street, N. W., it was announced Thursday night.

Atlanta Hom. Craft Club will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the O'Keefe Junior High school and members are urged by President H. C. Andrews to attend. The club will adopt a constitution and by-laws and will make application to the National Home Work Shop Guild for a charter. This year club members will make toys for Christmas distribution through worthy institutions.

Detectives M. B. Petty and B. E. Blair found an unoccupied automobile sitting at Fraser and Richardson streets Thursday night. They investigated and found that it contained 29 gallons of corn whiskey, but no driver was in evidence. The whiskey and the car were taken to police headquarters where it was found that the car had been reported stolen several nights ago.

Fuller Named Head
Of Medical Society

Dr. George W. Fuller was elected president of the Fifth District Medical Society at the annual meeting in the Academy of Medicine Thursday night.

Dr. William E. Shallenberger spoke on "Surgery in the Community," and Dr. James E. Paulin spoke on the pathology of arthritis.

Dr. Olin S. Cofer, Dr. Frank Bonland, Dr. Hugh Wood and Dr. Carter Smith also spoke.

Dr. Hamilton Ansley, of Decatur, was elected vice president, and Dr. Olin S. Cofer, secretary.

Held Captive 36 Hours
Atlantan Tells Police

Harry Sloss, 52-year-old paper hanger and painter, 1975 Drewry street, reported to police Thursday night that he was held captive by four negroes for more than 36 hours after he had been snatched off the street at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Sloss said he was beaten and released about 10 o'clock Thursday night at Boulevard and Decatur street after he had been held prisoner all Wednesday and Thursday somewhere in the city in a dark room under heavy guard.

The man told Captain A. J. Holcombe he was walking on the street when a Lincoln sedan occupied by four large negroes drew up beside him and suddenly one of the negroes jerked him into the car. He was slugged and blindfolded, he said. The negroes demanded $1,000 for his release. They took a $1 bill and a due bill for $25 from him. After repeatedly demanding $1,000, Sloss said his abductors drove him to Decatur and Boulevard Thursday night and kicked him out of the car. He was taken to Grady hospital for X-rays of his ribs. Sloss said he was knocked unconscious by one negro when he first entered the sedan.

Miller today declined to suspend until December 15 the sentence of former State Senator Elmer D. Jordan, of Attalla, convicted of soliciting a bribe during the 1932 legislative session.

Looted Public To Pay Eaton-Insull Charges

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Samuel Insull was accused by the government today of saddling upon his stockholders the $56,000,000 bill for his luckless war in the stock market with Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland capitalist. Insull surrendered to Eaton, after a financial siege back in 1930, and promised to pay $56,000,000, in papers read the jury trying Insull and 16 others for mail fraud. Then the prosecution said, the management of Insull's Corporation Securities Company assumed the defeat, minutes of a meeting on June 9, 1930, showed a promise "forever to protect" Insull from any loss. This action came from the executive committee of the Corporation Securities Company, including Insull; his son, Samuel; his brother, Martin J. Insull, and H. L. Stuart.
